'BUSY CALLIN' KETTLE BLACK'

Marryin' Squires Nettled by Charge Of Matrimonial Mill

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Constitution Staff Writer.

ROSSVILLE, Dec. 12—The marryin' squires of Northwest Georgia are plumb nettled over the way Chattanooga keeps calling their matrimonial mill a racket.

They say they don't for the life of them see how their Tennessee neighbors can say what they do about them and go right on with their scandalous one-day divorces, liquor joints and suspected health certificate business.

"There ain't no one thing in our County as sacred as a marriage vow," protests Ordinary J. C. Keown, of LaFayette, seat of Walker County, "and IF half of what their own Chattanooga Bar Association says about them's true, all I've got to say is those folks are mighty busy callin' the kettle black. Let him who is without sin cast the first stone, I always say."

The Chattanooga Bar Association last week emerged from a nine-month introspection into its divorce situation and cast a considerable stone in the laps of Dade, Catoosa and Walker Counties.

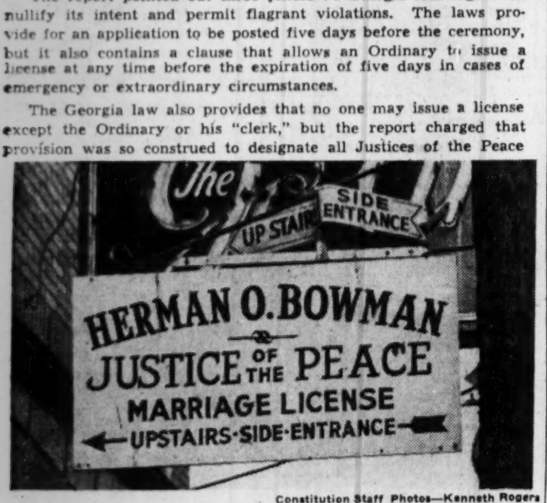

Despite confusing signs, love finds nuptial chambers.

It said Chattanooga's county, Hamilton, owes its unenviable record for a divorce rate 15 times the U. S. average to the fact anybody can get married across the Georgia line, any time they have the homing urge.

It implied that Hamilton County is second only to Reno, Nev., for breaking marital ties because Georgia Justices of Peace will marry lovers under age or under stimulant at the drop of a $5 bill with no questions asked. In 1945, the report declared, only 426 marriage licenses were issued in the Tennessee county, while more than 5,000 of their couples made a sentimental journey down the road to nearby Rising Fawn, Trenton, Ringgold or Rossville and came back in holy wedlock.

The report pointed out three jokers in Georgia marriage laws nullify its intent and permit flagrant violations. The laws provide for an application to be posted five days before the ceremony, but it also contains a clause that allows an Ordinary to issue a license at any time before the expiration of five days in cases of emergency or extraordinary circumstances.

The Georgia law also provides that no one may issue a license except the Ordinary or his "clerk," but the report charged that provision was so construed to designate all Justices of the Peace and other political friends qualified to perform ceremonies as his "clerks" and thousands of blank licenses are furnished these "clerks."

Said the report: "They are open for business 24 hours per day. With a marriage fee and a marriage honorarium at stake, no instance is known wherein a license has been refused . . . age limits were disregarded and drunks were married in the small hours of the morning. . . . Suits for divorce have been filed in some instances as early as the next day . . . some of the parties had no recollection of getting married. A few were already married and living with their spouses.

The report concluded that the income to Georgia Justices from marriage licenses issued to residents of Hamilton County alone (not including Alabama couples, and those who journeyed from every one of the five converging States) would reach "tens of thousands of dollars annually."

What the Bar Association revealed didn't hurt too much, because it also spanked a couple of Chattanoga lawyers for "encouraging" divorces and reprimanded Judge L. D. Miller, Hamilton's divorce Judge, for "laxity in trying divorce cases" and blamed him moreover for "encouraging laxness and looseness by attorneys in the handling of divorce litigation." It made several recommendations for improvement, including uniform divorce court procedure, a 30-day "cooling-off period" after petitions were filed and an end to chamber hearings. It also suggested that Judge Miller and Circuit Judge Fred Ballard divide up the divorce load a bit and see what happened.

Those admissions of Tennessee sin lightened the cloud on Georgia's litle Gretna Green, but the bad thing was that the next

Told Players Fled Flames By Sliding Down 3 Floors

By KEELER McCARTNEY

A police investigation is under way to determine if a poker game reputedly in progress on the third floor of the Winecoff Hotel early Saturday can be linked with the disastrous fire which gutted the 15-floor structure, killing 121 persons and injuring 75 others.

Several of the players, reports indicated, also were in the alleged poker game on Sept. 8 at 1400 Peachtree St., N. E., when C. A. Wallace, bath house operator, was shot to death.

City Detective J. E. Helms said last night he had obtained the names of eight alleged participants and understood at least two others were in the game. Helms said no arrests have been made.

None of the players was seriously injured in the fire, according to reports reaching police headquarters. They were said to have slid down a drain pipe soon after the fire broke out and escaped with only a few minor cuts and bruises.

The players are being sought for questioning in connection with the fire, Helms pointed out, adding:

"We are taking statements from everyone who might have seen anything that would throw light on the cause of the fire, particularly those on the third floor."

Reports of the game first came to police attention Sunday when a patrolman overheard a bystander at the fire remark that his overcoat was on the third floor.

The man was quoted as saying he had been in a poker game on the third floor and had gone out a few minutes earlier to purchase two quarts of whiskey. He said the hotel was in flames when he returned.

Helms said he understood one of the players had registered at the hotel under an assumed name Friday afternoon and was assigned to a room on the third floor near where the fire was believed to have started.

Another report reaching police headquarters was that a pistol shot was overheard a few seconds before the fire broke out. However, detectives have not been able to run the rumor to earth. They point out the impression left by a pistol bullet probably could not be found on many of the charred walls.

In the September slaying, Wallace was shot to death by a man identified only by the nickname "FBI." Several of the participants in the game, held at first under $1,000 bonds each and later released from the bonds, said they had seen the slayer several times over a period of several weeks, but did not know his name.

Detectives investigating the Wallace slaying said two or three of the players are known gamblers and "game hustlers."

Meantime, the buildings and trades councils here have indicated they may refuse to do alterations on hotels and apartments not strictly adhering to the present building code. Officials of the Atlanta Federation of Trades charged that failure to enforce existing building codes comprises one of the greatest fire hazards.

A resolution also adopted by the federation said previous warnings, such as fires at the Cable Piano Company and the Terminal Hotel, caused promises of more stringent regulations, but added

UNO Votes Recall Of Envoys to Spain

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—The United Nations assembly Thursday night passed, 34 to 6, a resolution recommending that all members immediately recall from Madrid their ambassadors and ministers to Franco Spain.

Earlier the 54-nation permanent headquarters committee of the United Nations Assembly voted 33 to 7 to accept the offer of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of an $8,500,000 skyscraper site in Manhattan as the permanent home of the world organization. The decision now goes to the General Assembly for approval.

The long-fought resolution on Spain also provided that if the Franco regime remain in power that the Security Council should consider "adequate measures" to remedy the situation, and that the present Spanish Government should be barred from membership in all international agencies connected with the UNO.

Those opposing the move were Argentina, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador and Peru.

Abstentions included Afghanistan, Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Honduras, Lebanon, The Netherlands, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Turkey and South Africa.

The vote followed nearly seven hours of debate in which most of the previous arguments were repeated. Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, indicated plainly that he still feels the resolution does not go far enough.

The Spanish case originally was raised in the Security Council last Spring by Poland, which demanded a worldwide severance of diplomatic relations with the Franco regime. After weeks of debate, including consideration of a long report by an investigating subcommittee, the council was unable to agree.

In the end, Russia vetoed the resolution on the grounds that it was "toothless."

Poland then brought the case before the assembly, again asking for a break in diplomatic relations. White Russia submitted another resolution that went even further—demanding that economic sanctions be applied.

These two proposals plus a series of others finally were consolidated in committees and subcommittees and emerged on the council floor.

Bilbo Aide Is Reported Threatened

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—A story of death threats against a key witness was laid before the Senate War Investigating Committee Thursday as it pressed an inquiry into allegations that Sen. Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, reaped benefits from his relations with war contractors.

George Meador, committee counsel, said the witness is Edward P. Terry, former secretary to Bilbo. Meador said the committee has been unable to learn his whereabouts since last Saturday and that efforts to subpoena him have been unsuccessful.

Terry until last January was Bilbo's secretary and constant office associate, although he carried the title of clerk of the Senate Committee on District of Columbia Affairs.

A letter was read into the record, addressed to Chairman Mead, Democrat, New York, and signed with Terry's name.

Dated Dec. 2, it said that an anonymous person telephoned him at Meridian, Miss., the night of Nov. 26 and told him "that should I participate or take any part in connection with the investigation of Sen. Bilbo my wife and daughter would pay with their lives."

It said that on Oct. 31 a similarly anonymous caller told him "I would pay with my life" if he had anything to do with an investigation of Bilbo then going on in Mississippi.

In view of these facts "and especially the fact that the lives of my wife and daughter have been threatened," the letter asked that he not be called to testify.

The letter recalled that last April "I was, in the presence of witnesses, told that I would be

44 Feared Dead as Blast Topples N. Y. Tenement

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—The 13th body was dragged from the mass of wreckage of a six-story upper Manhattan tenement Thursday night 21 hours after the building suddenly collapsed, entombing many of its residents.

Rescuers still dug frantically in the debris, spurred by the voice of one man still heard in the shambles. He was believed to be Joseph Arigo, 60, a 265-pound chef.

Many of the 21 still missing in the disaster were children.

One of the bodies was that of Mrs. Theresa Green, 35, wife of Walter Green, a 40-year-old bartender, whose body had been removed a few minutes earlier. Firemen digging in the debris said they believed they had sighted another body.

Ninety-five persons lived in the tenement, which was sliced in two as if by a giant ax when a two-foot-thick ice plant wall toppled against it after a five-alarm fire in the plant.

Huge floodlights were brought to illuminate the scene for an all-night rescue operation.

"As the rescuers are working they hear groans, indicating possibly that some victims buried in the debris may be still alive," Police Commissioner A. W. Wallander said.

Police Capt. Thomas Hannegan said some of the persons unaccounted for might have escaped and gone to hospitals or homes of friends or relatives.

Charles Glenn, official of an AFL House Wreckers' Union, said it was necessary to work with extreme care to avoid imperiling more lives, and estimated it might take until Sunday to reach the bottom of the debris.

Pneumatic drills were being used to break up the ponderous sections of ice plant wall, which presented the most difficult obstacle to the rescue operations.

Page Made Director of State Parks

By BILL BORING

Gov.-Elect Talmadge has announced the appointment of J. J. Page, Jr., Atlanta hotel man, as the incoming Director of State Parks.

Page, who resigned his position as manager of Atlanta's Henry Grady Hotel to become Talmadge's Associate State Campaign Manager in the gubernatorial race, becomes one of Talmadge's first major appointees.

He will assume office Jan. 14, succeeding R. Ward Harrison, Folkston newspaperman, who now holds the $5,000-a-year parks directorship.

Following his appointment, the sartorially-correct Page outlined a broad program of expansion for the State's 26 parks.

A major development definitely on the Talmadge Administration agenda, Page said, is the establishment of a State beach park. Page envisions one of the finest State-owned beach parks in the nation for Georgia's coast.

"It will be a 'poor man's' seashore resort," he says, "complete with hotel and park facilities."

Page said one of the tragedies of Georgia is that the marvelous natural playground resources of the State—much of the land already publicly owned—has not been developed and advertised.

He said that, in addition to the State Beach Park, Vogel and Pine Mountain Parks also will be developed to a point where they will be so attractive they will stop tourists passing through the State.

"We're going to put living quarters, fine restaurants and holiday accommodations in our State Parks," he said. "It will cost a lot of money in the beginning, but this will be returned a hundredfold and more once they become permanent, paying propositions."

Cold Weather Postponed; Low of 40, Clouds Forecast

No rain today, no rain tomorrow, although clouds may make it look that way, Harry Armstrong, Chief Forecaster for the Atlanta Weather Bureau, predicted as he mentioned a slight drop in temperature for these two days.

The high today will be about 64, he said, and tomorrow about 55 degrees, with a low tonight of about 40 degrees, thus bringing a little of the traditional Christmas chill nearer home.

TAKING NO CHANCES

150 Feet of Rope Sent Fiancee—Just in Case

Constitution State News Service.

MACON, Dec. 12—Carter Meadows, of Vidalia, a medical student at Emory University, Atlanta, is taking no chances at having his wedding Dec. 22, with Miss Denise Auld, of Vidalia, a student at Wesleyan Conservatory, marred.

Saturday morning the Emory med student saw fire snuff out the lives of 121 persons in the Winecoff Hotel. Sunday he visited Miss Auld, and while the couple stood out in front of the school building, she noticed Meadows scanning the building and mumbling a few figures in low tones.

The Conservatory student Thursday received a big package. When she opened it, she found 150 feet of rope, to be used in case of fire.

Wesleyan has made plans to install sprinkler systems in the Conservatory buildings, and until that time two night watchmen are patrolling the building hourly. The school is equipped with many fire escapes.

The bulk of the estimated $500,000 estate of the late Preston S. Arkwright will go to his son and daughter, according to terms of his will which was filed yesterday for probate in DeKalb County Ordinary Court.

After the deduction of $20,000 which the late utilities executive willed to his four grandchildren to share equally, the residue of the estate, estimated from DeKalb County tax returns to exceed $500,000, will be divided between his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy A. Giddings, and his son, Preston S. Arkwright, Jr., the will stipulated.

Dated Sept. 13 of this year, the will named Preston Arkwright, Jr., as executor.

Court Gets Ryan-Alexander Contest

Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson, Jr., yesterday was enjoined from placing his countersignature and the State's Seal on a commission naming Andrew J. Ryan, Jr., Solicitor General of the Eastern Judicial Circuit.

The injunction was signed by Judge Bond Almand upon the request of attorneys for Columbus Alexander, who contends he is the duly elected Solicitor General of the circuit comprising Chatham County.

The temporary injunction will be heard in Fulton Superior Court Dec. 20.

$10,000 in Fees Approved for Mann, Dunaway

The State Budget Commission has approved payment of $5,000 each to W. S. Mann, of McRae, and John A. Dunaway, of Atlanta, for representing Georgia in cases attacking the constitutionality of the county unit system.

Mann, personal attorney to Gov.-elect Talmadge, and Dunaway, who represented Congressman-elect James Davis, were appointed deputy assistant attorneys general at the direction of Gov. Arnall.

Their fees were recommended by the Governor, as head of the Budget Commission, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., said. Mann and Dunaway worked under Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook.

Woman's Body Found in Lake

The body of a woman identified as Mrs. Ellen D. Bamford, of 1817 East Morningside Dr., was found in the lake at West View Cemetery here yesterday. An umbrella and a handbag, containing 60 cents in change, were found on the bank of the lake. Police said there was no indication of foul play.

Her husband, Frank A. Bamford, told County Police he last saw his wife Wednesday afternoon when he left her sitting in their car while he went into a grocery store. When he came out, he said, Mrs. Bamford and the car had disappeared.

MANVILLE HAS EIGHTH WIFE JAILED ON FIRST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Dec. 12—(AP)—Tommy Manville had his eighth wife jailed Thursday—their first wedding anniversary—on a disorderly conduct charge when she called at his luxurious estate which she had left last week after a series of spats.

The wife, British-born former Georgina Campbell, was held in lieu of $200 bail by Police Court Justice Wesley M. Messersmith, who married the Manvilles. She was taken to Eastview penitentiary to await a hearing Saturday.

Police Chief Paul A. Yerick said Manville charged his wife "tried to break up the place" when he let her in.

When she left the Manville home last week, Manville had police send out a missing person alarm. The alarm later was cancelled when the wife's whereabouts became known.

OPPORTUNITY FUND DOESN'T HELP BUMS AND DEADBEATS

$60 Will Insure Entire Family's Welfare

BY KATHERINE BARNWELL

The men, women and children who are the Opportunity Fund families are not bums or deadbeats or professional charity seekers.

Sometimes people ask if they are.

"Aren't they just trying to get as much as they can out of you?" is the way they phrase it.

Not even Corrigan could be more wrong.

Actually, most of those aided by the Opportunity Fund never ask for a cent for themselves. A minister, a teacher or a neighbor requests the Family Welfare Society to "do something" for a certain family in dire need.

Take the J. family, for instance. Mr. and Mrs. J. have seven children—all under nine years of age. Mr. J. has very limited education and skills. Consequently, he has found it extremely difficult to support his large family in the face of skyrocketing prices. He also has been plagued by the housing shortage.

This family of nine is living in a basement. The basement is dark, small and not damp-proof. It has concrete floors, and has been flooded twice by rain, causing sickness in the family. Colds and running ears have kept the two school-age children out of school.

A neighbor saw the terrible conditions under which the J. family was living, and told Mr. J. that the basement should be made damp proof. Mr. J. agreed but added that his salary would not even buy his seven children the food and clothes they need.

The neighbor went to the Family Welfare Society and told workers the situation. Case workers investigated and found it all true. They found that $60 would damp-proof the basement and buy a linoleum rug for the cold concrete floor—a small amount to pay to insure an entire family's future health and welfare.

You can help this family—and others needy—in this Christmas season by contributing to The Constitution's 1946 Opportunity Fund.

The Rollerdrome, corner of Penn and Ponce de Leon Aves., will sponsor an extra hour of skating on Saturday night, Dec. 21, for the benefit of The Constitution's Fund. Instead of closing at 10 p. m. as customary, the Rollerdrome will remain open until 11 p. m. and all proceeds from the last hour of skating will go to the Opportunity Fund, Charles Z. Kahn, Manager, announced.

Your help is needed too. If you have not contributed to the Fund, do so today. Mail your donation to H. H. Trotti, Treasurer, Opportunity Fund, care The Constitution, Atlanta.

Atlanta's Lack of Fire Measures Makes Women's Hair 'Stand on End'

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Atlanta property owners are guilty of "outrageous carelessness" when it comes to preventive or protective fire measures, 203 club women declared yesterday, meeting to report on their inspection of all the city's hotels, 10 of its apartment buildings, 21 stores and 11 schools.

"We have gone out into our town and seen things that make our hair stand on end," declared Mrs. Robert H. Jones, President of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs. "Carelessness is rampant—but the encouraging thing is that we are getting the hearty cooperation of property owners and landlords. Everywhere there is a willingness to correct the evils as they appear."

Mrs. Jones said that 16 committees, made up of 203 volunteer women workers, had made a thorough inspection of all the hotels listed in the classified section of the telephone directory and had begun on stores, schools, apartment houses and other public buildings.

"We are only summarizing our findings at this time," the Federation president said. "We feel that Atlantans should be given an opportunity to correct conditions. Many of our committees reported their findings to the property owners first, to give them that chance. But at our next meeting, Jan. 2, we are going to give detailed reports. We are going to name names."

Mrs. Jones said some of the schools visited by the committees were "fire traps" and that children marched from the building during fire drills over "well-oiled, highly inflammable wooden steps."

The club women said their inspection had been welcomed by most property owners and landlords and they expressed the belief adequate preventive steps would be taken and modern fire-fighting and fire-escape methods would be established as rapidly as possible.

Along with the personal, first-hand inspection of buildings the club women are making a study of fire laws with a view to urging the passage of new and more adequate measures when the Legislature meets, Mrs. Jones said.

Truck Committee To Help City Map Traffic Plans

A six-man committee from truck line operating organizations will assist Raymond W. Torras, Engineer-Secretary of the City Planning Commission, and Lt. Marvin Thomas, of the Traffic Bureau in mapping plans to relieve congestion in downtown Atlanta.

Members of the subcommittee selected by operators to assist in the studies are La Felle Ruff, of the Freight Delivery Service; C. D. Austin, of the Railway Express Company; L. L. Austin, of the Atlanta Retail Merchants Association; Clark McDonald, of the Central Improvement Association; R. S. Reese, of the Motor Vehicle Association of Georgia, Inc., and A. W. Thompson, Past President of the Motor Vehicle Association of Georgia, Inc.

Thomas told truckers that parking will be banned in the area bounded by Baker Street on the North, Garnett Street on the South, Spring Street on the West and Washington and Courtland Streets on the East as soon as sufficient off-street parking facilities are made available.

He and Torras emphasized that 19,000 trucks and 93,000 private automobiles move into and out of the area defined by Thomas as the most congested area from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. daily.

Income Tax Form For '46 Released; Deadline Mar. 15

Individual income tax return blanks for 1946 have been released and income tax returns for the calendar year 1946 are due by March 15, 1947, Marion H. Allen, Collector of Internal Revenue, said yesterday.

In addition to the individual income tax returns for 1946, many individuals will be required to file a declaration of estimated tax on March 15, 1947, Allen said.

A declaration is required by each individual who expects to receive wages subject to withholding tax in excess of $5,000, plus $500 for each exemption except his own, or whose income from other sources is expected to exceed $100 provided his total income is expected to exceed $500. The estimated tax may be paid in four installments: March 15, 1947, June 15, 1947, Sept. 15, 1947 and Jan. 15, 1948.

A form 1040 must be filed by each individual whose wages subject to withholding tax exceeds $5,000 or whose income from other sources exceeds $100, Allen said.

Southside Group Asks Mitchell's Retention

Southside businessmen yesterday addressed petitions to the Fulton County Commissioners and the Grand Jury urging the retention of C. E. Mitchell as Chief of the County Police.

Removal of Mitchell would be "detrimental to the Fulton County Police Department as a whole and would definitely break down any and all confidence of the men in the Department as related to the protection of civil service," the petition stated. It also asked the Grand Jury to investigate any move to replace Mitchell and to keep the Police Department out of politics.

The petition to the Grand Jury was signed by 41 names.

Fireman's Bond Raised to $5,000

Joe Robinson, 36, former fireman at Station No. 11, released under $500 bond after he was arrested Tuesday on charges of disorderly conduct-larceny in connection with the Winecoff Hotel fire, was rearrested on orders from Chief M. A. Hornsby yesterday. A new bond was set at $5,000 which Robinson posted. Police said Robinson admitted he took pieces of jewelry from the hotel as he and associates were checking rooms after the fire.

Loan Bank Declares $65,000 Dividend

John L. Conner, President of the Southern Federal Savings & Loan Association of Atlanta, has announced the declaration of a semiannual dividend of approximately $65,000 payable Jan. 1, 1947.

In the announcement Conner said:

"The Southern Federal Savings & Loan Association was organized in 1936 with assets of $18,000. We have just closed our greatest six months in history. Our assets are now over $6,500,000. We have financed over 2,925 homes in Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb Counties, involving $9,500,000.

"Each savings account is insured up to $5,000 by an agency of the United States Government."

Paint Firm To Offer New Type Cleaner

J. L. Beauchamp, regional director of the Glidden Company, told representatives from five Southeastern states of a new Glid-X soapless cleaner which, he said, "will make dishwashing almost a pleasure" at the opening of a two-day sales meeting at the Piedmont Hotel yesterday.

The executive stressed the advantages of the new cleaner and told Glidden sales heads and distributing center managers it is "time to face facts about changing conditions in the paint industry." Representatives attending the meeting are from Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, Tennessee as well as Georgia.

Georgia Solon to Seek Rope-Per-Room Law

The Georgia Legislature will be asked in January to require all hotels to provide pliable steel cables or fireproof hemp ropes in each room, long enough to reach the street.

Rep.-Elect R. T. Hampton, of Fannin County, who yesterday disclosed he will present such a bill, said this precaution would have saved many lives in the Winecoff Hotel fire.

SOURCES OF TOXIC GASES

Winecoff Hotel Paint Now Being Analyzed

Paint used in the Winecoff Hotel but a few days before the fire has been sent to the Bureau of Standards in Washington for analysis.

It is believed to have a nitrous cellulose base—the same as dynamite or gun cotton. It is a fast-drying paint with a low "flash point," making it a highly dangerous accessory to any confined fire, or heat.

Paint which had been put on woodwork and burlap panels along the corridors was the chief fuel for the fire and the chief source of poisonous and toxic gases. At least 30 persons on the very top floor, the sixteenth, were killed by these fumes. Terrific heat reached up to the top floor to scorch doors and blister walls, but no actual flames reached there from the fire itself.

There was flame—generated by the heat.

The paint on the fifteenth and sixteenth floors (actually the fourteenth and fifteenth, since there was no thirteenth floor) was burned off in a flash fire, leaving much of the woodwork unmarred. This was, of course, an explosive fire, or flash fire, which was gone in an instant but which left the floors charged with deadly carbon monoxide gas and other toxic, killing fumes.

Had people remained in their rooms and put mattresses against the doors, wetting them down, the fumes would have been kept out of the rooms. The gases and smoke, seeking escape but confined to the building by concrete slabs over the top of elevator shafts and heavy sky glasses over stairwells, were not pushed into the rooms so prepared.

"The action of the pressure is like someone with a spray gun forcing poison gas in around the cracks. If you can stop the draft through the doors and transoms you can keep the air much purer," said experts here from Washington. "The smell of these gases still is in the building."

'ROBERT FULTON' THROTTLES BLAZE

Fire broke out in an eighth floor room of the Robert Fulton Hotel early yesterday morning but two alert bellhops put out the flame with a fire extinguisher.

City Policeman O. L. Kilpatrick said the fire apparently started from a cigarette and damaged the interior of the room. No one was injured.

Milton Ferrell, Assistant Manager of the hotel, said house officers smelled the smoke and called the bellhops. Each floor of the hotel, he said, is equipped with fire extinguishers and hoses.

Gun Dealer Examined in Walton

ATHENS, Dec. 12 — (AP) — An aged, rural pistol dealer, 72-year-old J. Tom Long, was questioned Thursday by a Federal Grand Jury as it sought to fix responsibility for the killing of four Negroes in Walton County last July 25.

The pistol expert, who has bought and sold firearms for two generations, was among four new witnesses quizzed in the painstaking inquiry which began Dec. 3. The nature of his testimony was not known but his appearance led to speculation that the jury might hope to learn who owned the guns which killed two Negro farm hands and their wives in the Apalachee bridge slayings.

Three witnesses who previously testified were recalled by the jury Thursday for fresh questioning. They were Alvin Adcock, Walton County farmer, and Roy W. Peters, Monroe restaurant operator, who testified Wednesday, and Cleonius Adcock, who was questioned earlier this week.

Others who went before the Grand Jury were Joe Tom Harper, brother-in-law of Peters, Clarence Hester, a cousin of wounded Barney Hester whose stabbing preceded the quadruple lynchings, and DeWitt Wingo, an FBI agent.

Library Closed, Honors Mrs. Tollett

The library at Russell High School remains closed this week in tribute to Mrs. Irene Harris Tollett, Russell's librarian, who killed in the Winecoff fire Saturday.

A memorial service for Mrs. Tollett was held in the chapel Tuesday, and the school paused in a moment of silence at the hour of the funeral Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services were held in Ducktown, Tenn.

She is survived by a son, Bob Tollett, a senior at the University of Georgia; a sister, Miss Madelyn Harris, and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Harris, of Copperhill, Tenn. Another sister, Miss Lena Harris, of Copperhill, was visiting in Atlanta and also lost her life in the fire.

'NO CREDIT TO HIM'

Judge Puts Court Quietus On What Cohn Called Vidor

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12—(AP)—Federal Judge Ben Harrison called a halt Thursday on further listing of epithets which Harry Cohn, head of Columbia studios, has testified he used as terms of friendship for Charles Vidor, one of his top directors.

Observing that many of the terms, largely referring to ancestry, had already been disposed of, Judge Harrison remarked:

"This vile and improper language has been admitted and it is no credit to him."

Hubert Morrow, attorney for Vidor in his suit to terminate his contract with Columbia on the ground that Cohn's treatment of him constituted cruelty, asked Cohn:

"You are well acquainted with epithets used in Hollywood?" when Cohn replied in the affirmative, the attorney began reading variations of the ancestry reference, mostly based on modifying adjectives.

Cohn admitted his use of two or three of them, but as they increased in emphasis, he denied that he had used them. It was after this exchange that Judge Harrison objected that the testimony was becoming repetitious.

"Do you remember two occasions in your office when Vidor broke down and cried?" Morrow asked.

"I remember just one," replied Cohn. He said that Vidor, after completing his first two pictures, "Cover Girl" and "A Song to Remember," said he wanted a new contract.

"Charlie, you get the new contract after the next picture," Cohn said he replied and Vidor wept.

"He hollered, 'why don't I get the contract now? I have made two great pictures?" Cohn testified.

The only other occasion when Vidor cried, Cohn said, was when he was assigned to make "Cover Girl."

Irving Briskin, executive assistant at Columbia; William K. Hopkins, Director of Industrial Relations, and Maxwell Arnow, talent executive, testified as corroborating witnesses for Cohn, saying that swearing was accepted as a matter of course in the filming of motion pictures. All said they had not heard at any time derogatory remarks on Doris Warner before her marriage to Vidor.

Guilty Conscience Forces Admission of 1928 Slaying

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12—(UP)—A 40-year-old itinerant farm hand who wanted to "get something off my conscience" told police Thursday that he was one of three men who abducted, robbed and burned to death a New York governess 18 years ago.

The story was one of three told by George J. Webb, of Bridgeport, Conn., several hours after he applied at City Hall for a night's lodging.

He called in detectives and said he wanted to ease his conscience. Then, he voluntarily admitted participating in the slaying of Margaret Brown near Morristown, N. J.

Miss Brown was found with clothing aflame in the snow behind a roadstand on Feb. 15, 1928. She died in a hospital several hours later.

Webb was held without bail for a further hearing next Thursday pending a mental examination.

The farm hand first told police he was involved in the slaying, changed his story to say he merely was a witness, then returned to his original version of participating in the murder.

Detectives quoted Webb that he and two other men kidnaped Miss Brown outside a Cranford, N. J., bank. They drove her to Newcastle, Del., Webb said, and then returned her to Northern New Jersey.

Webb told police they stopped the automobile near Morristown, beat and robbed Miss Brown of $1,000. They set fire to her clothing and fled, he said.

Webb said he was discharged from the Ferris Industrial School, Marshalton, Del., two months before Miss Brown was slain.

Chinese Reds 'Coming Back,' Leader Declares

By JOHN R. RODERICK

YENAN, Dec. 9 — (Delayed) — (AP)—Mao Tse-tung, Chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, stated flatly Thursday night the Communists intend to recover by arms if necessary all of the territory they have lost to Government troops in the past year.

This, he said, includes their big military base at Kalgan and Chengteh in North Kiangsu Province.

He spoke freely for three hours to two British correspondents and me in a mud and brick cavelike building at Hwangchiaping military headquarters but limited the subjects on which he could be quoted. (Mao presumably did not discuss, or permit mention of possible discussion of Chiang Kai-shek's offer to send a truce mission to Yenan.)

He apparently is virtually recovered from the overwork which kept him inactive last Winter. He laughed often and occasionally paced the floor while talking.

EXPLOSION

disaster, gave the following as the most generally-accepted theory of the ice plant wall's collapse:

The wall was weakened by water poured onto it as a result of a fire in the building at 5 p. m. Wednesday. At 11 p. m., a second blaze occurred in the plant, igniting cork insulation in the wall and causing the cork to expand. This expansion, with the heat of the fire, created a terrific vacuum draft, and the wall buckled.

Grumet said four boys had admitted starting a fire in the icehouse Wednesday but that it had been put out.

Rescuers removed five bodies from the fallen building and said they saw three more.

Hospital units arrived with plasma and set up a first-aid station.

More Columbians Notify Dan Duke They're Quitting

Rebellion in the ranks of Columbians, Inc., continued to grow last night as members of the hate organization notified Asst. Atty. Gen. Dan Duke they had joined the group with false ideas as to its aims.

While Duke received telephone calls during the day from members who said they were quitting, Sol. Gen. E. E. Andrews worked on evidence he will present to a Grand Jury today in a move to indict Emory Burke and Homer Loomis, Jr., Fuehrers of the hate group, and an unidentified third officer of the order.

Burke slammed back at agents of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League yesterday when he swore out warrants against three investigators charging them with usurping police authority. The three agents were credited with obtaining information which brought to light activities and aims of the group.

One of the warrants was against Prof. James H. Sheldon, administrative chairman of the league, who said last night from his New York office that the Columbians had used typical "Hitler technique" in taking out the warrants.

"They won't have any trouble serving their warrant on me," Sheldon said. "I am going to fly back to Atlanta on the first plane I can catch."

He denied that his real name is Jacob Shapiro as charged in the warrant.

"I have never found it expedient to use any other name than that with which I was christened," Sheldon said. "On my return to Atlanta I am going to ask Atty. Gen. Cook, his assistant, Dan Duke, and Sol. Gen. Andrews to further investigate the activities of the Columbians, and their legal talent."

'SAY I WAS DRUNK'

Once Toast of Baltimore Jailed in $13 Theft Case

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12—(AP)—Clifton Lee Hand, who once had the key to the city, waited ruefully in jail Thursday as Gov. O'Conor in Annapolis considered a pardon.

Nineteen months ago, on July 4, 50,000 Baltimoreans cheered as Machinist's Mate 2/C Clifton Lee Hand stepped onto a special platform in Municipal Stadium.

The Mayor gave him a war bond for "outstanding service in combat duty." Two weeks later Hand also got the key to the city, inscribed: "To a worthy and noble son of Baltimore, of whom we are all proud."

Hand had enlisted in the Coast Guard the day after Pearl Harbor.

In his jail cell Thursday he told this story:

"Two weeks ago I was having a few drinks in a bar. Say I was drunk. Suddenly the man sitting next to me accused me of taking $13 from him. Said I had taken his wallet from his pocket."

"I didn't know what the man was talking about. I didn't take his money. I didn't need his money. I was making more than $50 a week myself, in my civil service job as an automobile mechanic.

"I've never been in trouble before."

A police magistrate sentenced Hand to 30 days in jail on a larceny charge. He had no witnesses, no lawyer. He appealed. The higher court made it 60 days.

Thieves Raid Tower, Loot Is Cigarettes

LONDON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Thieves raided the Tower of London, where the British crown jewels are stored in peacetime, and stole a large quantity of cigarettes.

The jewels were removed to another place of safety during the war and had not been returned.

The cigarettes were stocks of a canteen for the military detachment in the tower.

As Bad as Georgia, Lewis Says of Section

WATERBURY, Conn., Dec. 12—(AP)—Sinclair Lewis, the author, asserted here in an interview, that "native Fascism is as bad in New England as it is in Georgia."

And, declared Lewis, "as long as there's as much anti-Semitism in New England as there is now, there isn't anybody here who can look down his nose at Georgia."

OH, WELL, BOYS WILL BE BOYS

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12—(AP) Landlord Claude E. Watson, seeking the eviction of the Edwin L. Hastry family, read a four-page history of the pranks of six-year-old Edwin L. Hastry, Jr.

Items: Shortly after birth, he screamed and rocked back and forth in his crib. In later days, he dug up the lawn and threw it down the drain, and he rearranged the contents of other tenants' mail boxes.

Just high spirits, Judge J. Howard Murrary ruled. He did the same thing when he was a boy—only the future jurist's activities extended over a city block.

Elliott, Faye Hop To Visit Poland

MOSCOW, Dec. 12—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt and his actress wife, Faye Emerson, left by plane Thursday for a short visit to Poland.

They returned to Moscow from the Georgian Soviet Socialist Republic late Wednesday, laden with oranges and tangerines.

Roosevelt said he planned to be in the United States either Dec. 22 or 23 to spend Christmas with his mother.

He was invited to visit Poland.

Decatur Woman To Get Citation

Mrs. Joseph E. Buffington, of Decatur, Regional Director for the Pan-American League in 14 Southern States, will go to Miami to receive a citation Monday from the League for being "the most outstanding woman in inter-American affairs."

Since Mrs. Buffington became Regional Director of the Pan-American League in 1944, she has established four Southeastern branches. Last April she directed a three-day Pan-American clinic in Atlanta, and she was responsible for a Latin-American art exhibit being displayed here at the Carnegie Library.

At present Mrs. Buffington is directing an essay contest on Latin America in Atlanta high schools. Winner of the contest will receive a free trip to Havana with his or her teacher in the Spring.

Building Employment Increases in State

Construction employment in Georgia climbed steadily the first nine months of this year due, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, to expanded activity to meet veterans housing needs.

Harris P. Dawson Jr., Regional Director of the Bureau, said 26,300 persons were employed in construction work in Georgia last September—a 100 percent increase over the first months of 1945.

The State's construction employment decreased 76 percent during the war years, from a total of 54,300 at work in October, 1941, to a low of 13,000 in January, 1945.

UMW Plans Case; Asks Lewis' Status

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Defense attorneys moved Thursday to fight the $3,500,000 fine against the United Mine Workers in the Supreme Court. They raised the question whether the union can be held responsible for what John L. Lewis does.

This was one of 10 points in a petition filed by the defense in an effort to broaden the case. Others included the applicability of the Norris-LaGuardia Anti-Injunction Act and other points raised before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

The petition, except for its broader phases, is similar in form to the one filed by the Government last week and granted by the court on Monday. The court probably will announce next Monday whether the Union's petition for a writ of certiorari is granted. If it is, the two cases are certain to be combined in the arguments set for Jan. 14 and the subsequent decision.

Noting that the UMW is an unincorporated asociation, the petition asked the Court to hear arguments and to rule whether it can be held responsible for "acts of any individual oficer, member or agent in the absence of clear proof of actual participation in, or actual authorization of such acts, or ratification of such acts after actual knowledge thereof."

It was Lewis, President of the UMW, who served the notice of terminating the contract with the Government and thus touched off the soft coal strike that started Nov. 20. And it was Lewic, too, who ended the strike with a notice to the miners last Saturday to return to work. He personally was fined $10,00 for contempt of court by Justice Goldsborough.

'WE'D DONE OUR BEST'

Fireman's Morale 'Pretty Low'

By KEELER McCARTNEY

The fireman stood silently for several minutes, turning his hat over in his hand nervously.

"You see," he said, "—morale among the boys is pretty low.

"We thought we had done a pretty good job in cutting down the Winecoff Hotel fire and preventing an even worse disaster.

"We'd worked hard. Several of the boys got hurt fighting the fire, one of them is bad hurt.

"All of us were dog tired when the fire was over.

"Then . . ." he paused for a moment. "Then one of the outfit disgraced us."

He was referring to a fireman who was arrested by police on charges of "disorderly conduct—larceny" in connection with the removal of jewelry from one of the rooms.

"Firemen," he continued, "found out about the jewelry.

"Firemen had the man arrested.

"But now when people look at us on the street, they wear an accusing expression. They seem to be comparing us to him.

"A lot of the boys pull off their uniforms the minute they get off duty to keep people from looking at them like that.

"Morale is pretty low right now. I thought maybe you could tell the people we'd done our best and that we don't go along with what one man did. If you could do that, it would help a lot."

BILBO

killed if I gave out any information I might have detrimental to Senator Bilbo."

This instance, the letter said, was widely published.

Counsel Meader said Terry was questioned Nov. 26 in executive session. Chairman Mead and Sen. Ferguson, Republican, Michigan, urged that the Federal Bureau of Investigation be recruited to help locate him for public testimony. Committee staffers reached him by telephone at Lakeland, Fla., Saturday.

Counsel reported that Terry's daughter believed he had come to Washington Monday, gone to New York, and was driving back to Meridian.

Bilbo and his attorney, Forrest Jackson, asked that the committee subpoena not only Terry, but J. Marvin Quinn, Executive Vice President of a Jackson (Miss.) bank where Terry is said to have some accounts.

Jackson said Quinn had told him in a conversation 10 days ago that Terry had confided he was going to use the alleged threats as an excuse not to testify, "because the evidence he would give would tend to incriminate him."

Bilbo's lawyer said Terry's account of the threats was "the same sort of statement he made during the campaign" last summer when Bilbo won renomination over four opponents.

Before getting to the Terry matter, the committee had heard from Army officers and ex-officers:

1. That Bilbo on numerous occasions brought contractors to their offices to recommend them for construction jobs;

2. That Bilbo was extremely active in having construction of the Jackson (Miss.) air base placed under control of the Army Engineer office at Vicksburg, Miss., rather than the office at Mobile, Ala.;

3. That his 1940 campaign manager, A. B. Friend, participated in a $1,731,029 contract at Key Field, Meridian, Miss., as one of four contractors in a pool or co-venture.

When the morning session ended, the little Democratic Senator told reporters:

"If it's wrong to recommend friends and constituents for jobs, then it disqualifies three-fourths of the Senate and all of the House.'"

Wearing a diamond horseshoe stickpin in his red necktie, Bilbo maintained an air of jauntiness as two of his colleagues dug into allegations that he accepted more than $30,000 in cash, a furnished house and a big automobile from contractors for his work in getting them the Government construction jobs.

Rescuers' Hopes Nearly Gone For Entombed Miner

GLOBE, Ariz., Dec. 12—(AP)—Miners risked their lives deep in a hillside tunnel Thursday as they drove slowly toward the spot where a fellow worker was entombed by a cave-in last Saturday.

Hope that John Orekor could be alive was virtually abandoned, although for a time it had been nurtured by the rescue of another miner 20 hours after the accident and by reports of some rescue workers that they believed their signals had been answered.

The only trace of Orekor were his cap and lantern which Jones said were picked out of the rock and dirt shortly after the cave-in Saturday afternoon.

The following day Elijah M. York, who was working near Orekor, was rescued unharmed. He said he believed his companion was buried by the cave-in.

Swain Elected Baxley Mayor

Constitution State News Service.

BAXLEY, Dec. 12—At the city election held in Baxley Wednesday, Warren E. Swain was elected Mayor of Baxley.

In the race for City Council, F. F. Branch, Jack Godfrey and W. L. Veal were elected. W. L. Veal was re-elected for another term.

Crib-to-Coffin Opposed

LONDON, Dec. 12—(AP)—The British Medical Association announced Thursday that the country's doctors had voted 23,110 to 18,972 against entering negotiations with the Labor Government over the new crib-to-coffin National Health Service. Thus the doctors rejected a Government invitation to take part in making the regulations which will govern medical and allied services under the recently passed National Health Service Act.

OFF, ON AGAIN IN CAROLINA

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 12 (AP)—It was off and on again practice for South Carolina doctors Thursday.

In an automobile accident here, William Duncan had an ear cut off. He picked up the ear, drove to a hospital and promptly had it sewed back in place.

Earlier, a surgeon at Roper Hospital at Charleston treated Henry Smith, 23, who had lopped off the little toe of his left foot while chopping wood. The doctor found the toe in Smith's shoe, and realizing it was a matter of leaving it off, or putting it back in place, decided to put it back.

Seek To Link Attack on Girl, 'Vanishing' Case

BENNINGTON, Vt., Dec. 12—(UP)—Investigators sought Thursday night to link the recent attack on a Smith College graduate with the mysterious disappearance of Paula Welden, who strolled off the Bennington College campus 11 days ago and did not return.

Two detectives went to Northampton, Mass., about 40 miles Southeast of here, to question Stephen Antosz and Mendor McCormick. The suspects are held for trial in the assault Monday night on Miss Louise Moore, 21, of Bronxville, N. Y.

Vermont authorities refused to say what prompted them to seek a connection between the two cases.

While the two were interrogated, a man and woman detective team requestioned Bennington College students and faculty members, especially those who were friends of the missing Welden girl. The detectives, sent here by the Connecticut State Police, are Lts. Robert N. Rundle and Dora Scoville, experts in tracing missing persons.

They admitted frankly they were starting "right from the beginning." Their first move was to retrace the route the 18-year-old Stamford, Conn., sophomore was supposed to have taken from the campus to Glastonbury Mountain—the last place she was seen.

The Connecticut detectives talked with Louis Knapp, a Bennington contractor, who said Miss Welden hailed his truck and asked for a ride in the direction of the Mountain. He gave her a lift, he said, dropping her off a short distance from the entrance to the long trail where she presumably started on a hike.

FIRE

the Winecoff disaster creates a doubt as to their adequacy.

Local firms dealing in fire protection equipment have reported an increasing volume of orders and inquiries for newer apparatus in the wake of the Winecoff holocaust.

As Atlanta sought to revise the building code to prevent a reoccurrence of the early morning disaster, other Southern cities quickly followed suit.

Officials at Montgomery, Ala., are studying a revision of fire regulations and in New Orleans, La., a move is under way to eliminate all unenclosed stairways in hotels as a means of stopping the vertical spread of fire.

W. H. Irwin, husband of Mrs. Annie Lee Irwin, the former owner of the Winecoff Hotel, yesterday denied reports that Mrs. Irwin holds stock in the Arlington Corporation, of Georgia, to which she sold the hotel Wednesday for an estimated $570,000.

"I do not own stock in the corporation and my wife says she does not, either," Irwin said.

The Arlington Corporation, which received its corporate charter here the day of the sale, is headed by G. W. Creel, of 600 S. Main St., College Park, according to papers on file at the Fulton County Courthouse. Creel earlier had named Mrs. Irwin as one of the stockholders of the group.

UAW To Seek .23 1-2 Hourly Wage Boost

NEW YCRK, Dec. 12—(UP)—The United Auto Workers (CIO) will ask 23.5 cents an hour wage increase for 1,000,000 workers in the automobile industry, the Union's Executive Board agreed on Thursday.

Walter P. Reuther, President of the Union, announced that the wage demand was unanimously agreed to by the Directors. It represents a 17.6 percent increase. Reuther said it was determined on the basis of the increase in the cost of living.

Wage negotiations already are under way with Chrysler, Packard, Hudson and Kaiser-Frazer, but the demand will apply to the entire industry.

Negotiations with General Motors will open in the Spring.

The wage demand is in addition to proposals for an equalization fund, a program of social security, and a retirement plan for all auto workers.

More Aid to Austria Is Backstage Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—A high diplomatic official said Thursday night that the United States, bucking Soviet opposition, is considering asking a reshuffle of UNRRA's last $626,000,000 to provide additional relief for hard-pressed Austria.

This informant said a desire to help Austria and possibly Italy was one of the main reasons behind the American strategy. This is a course of insistence that all remaining allocations to UNRRA-receiving countries are "tentative" and subject to revision, depending on need.

Director General Fiorello LaGuardia has supported Russian, Polish and Yugoslav opposition to the United States attitude at the 48-nation UNRRA conference here. He has lashed out at the American view as "bread politics."

However, the diplomatic official who discussed the situation with a reporter, said that reports from Austria clearly indicate urgent need. He said they show that additional UNRRA help must be forthcoming if food rations in that country are not to sink down to 1,200 calories daily from their present figure of 1,550.

If UNRRA is to operate on a "when and where needed" basis, said this official, it is more urgent to ship food to a hungry country rather than to utilize funds for rehabilitation and industrial equipment to more fortunate claimant countries.

Seeking to prevent any juggling of remaining allocations, the Russian representative has introduced a resolution which would "freeze" current programs without change. Deliveries to European countries not completed by a Dec. 31 deadline would continue to go forward under the Russian proposal.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Gunman Makes $752 Haul On Liquor Store Holdup

An unidentified man yesterday robbed H. D. Pope, manager of a liquor store at 207 Luckie St., N. W., of $340 at gun point and the cash register of $325, police said. The man also took an $80 wrist watch from Pope, and $7 from a customer in the store at the time, Radio Patrolmen G. H. Williams and L. C. Pope reported.

'A ROARING TORCH'

Farmer, Son Die in Blaze Of Home

Constitution State News Service.

MONROE, Dec. 12—I. O. Treadwell, 38-year-old Oconee County farmer, was burned to death early Thursday morning in a vain attempt to save his 18-month-old son from the flames of their burning home, located on the Athens-Monroe Highway.

The mother, after heroically carrying the three other children, Rose, Rachael and Janice, to safety, lies critically burned in the Walton County Hospital.

According to neighbors, the fire broke out at 5:30 a. m. Thursday as Treadwell had arisen and begun to build the morning fires. It is thought he poured kerosene or some other petroleum product into the wood-burner stove.

The accumulated gases exploded in a moment or so, turning the room into a roaring torch.

The bodies, charred beyond recognition, were removed from the ruins after the neighbors and the Monroe fire company had extinguished the blaze.

The home was completely destroyed.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the E. L. Almand Company, of Monroe.

Mr. Treadwell was a well-known Oconee County farmer and a member of the Hebron Christian Church. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Treadwell.

Brokerage Firm To Pay Bonus

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane yesterday announced a 1946 bonus of over $1,000,000 for all its employes, according to F. D. Willis, Manager of the firm's Atlanta office.

This cash bonus is in addition to the firm's regular contribution to the Employes Profit-Sharing Plan.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane employes who have been with the firm 10 years or more will receive a bonus of 15 percent of their total base salaries during 1946, and others will receive from 12 percent to 8 percent, depending upon length of service. For example, an employe who received a salary of $300 per month and has been with the firm 10 years or longer will receive a check for $540. There are 684 employes who have been employed 10 years or more.

New GI-Fraulein Regulations Would Delay March To Altar

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 12—(AP)—Officers familiar with proposed regulations permitting GI-fraulein weddings said Thursday they are filled with safeguards against ill-considered marriages and any scheming Nazi girls looking for an easy ticket out of war-ravaged Germany.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, Theater Commander, was reported concerned that there be no hasty marriages so there will be as little "repenting at leisure" as possible. The detailed regulations are being drawn up for his approval.

Soldiers won't be permitted to marry their German sweethearts until just before they complete their tour of duty in Germany and prepare to sail for home. That will insure against marrying just to avoid loneliness here and in most cases will make sure the soldier has known the girl for a long time, officers said.

In addition any German leaving the homeland must obtain an "exit permit" and passport visa for which the State Department has set rigid standards.

It takes several months to clear all these hurdles under the old GI fiancee law which permits war veterans to import alien sweethearts into the United States on condition they marry them within three months after they arrive.

It may take that long under the new plan, too.

Give the Farmer Chance To Own His Home--Pace

Economic security for the farmer is a condition precedent to true prosperity in the South, according to Stephen Pace, of Americus, Representative in Congress from the Third Georgia District.

Pace made this statement yesterday in an address to Extra Interim Convention of the Georgia Bankers' Asociation at the Biltmore Hotel.

"Farmers must have the chance to own their own homes," said Pace, "and they must have the opportunity to acquire other forms of economic security. Then we may look forward to an era of real and lasting prosperity in the South."

Donald Comer, of Birmingham, Chairman of Avondale Mills, stressed the economic potentialities of the South and urged Southern industrialists to work to develop them. He also urged economic security for the individual and suggested the goal, "Every family a home-owner."

Other speakers included: Arthur T. Fort, of Lumpkin, on "The Country Bank Commission," Erwin J. Foltz, of Atlanta, on FBI work, and Clinton B. Axford, of New York, editor of The American Banker, on "The Five-Day Work Week."

An Unsound Conclusion

The CIO has had a survey made, largely of steel, automobile and associated industries, which indicates that 1946 profits from the nation's corporations will be about $25,000,000,000 before taxes and about $15,000,000,000 after taxes.

That is about as near as anyone can come.

There was no need for the survey, as the nation's economists have been agreed upon approximately the same figures.

Using this as a guidepost, the CIO says manufacturing interests can increase wages 21 percent and corporate business 25 percent, without raising prices and without reducing net profits below the 1936-39 average.

What's wrong with the reasoning—if each admits the figures correct?

The answer is—plenty.

Any person must know that if there are to be jobs—and an increasing number of jobs for the expanding population—there must be an expansion of industry.

The CIO figures, while correct, are not honestly presented for the reason that if it is not possible to spend at least a major portion of the profits on new plant expansion, on improved machines, on research problems and engineering, there cannot be any expansion or growth of industry.

If American industry is to remain static—as it is today—building no additional plants, adding no new equipment and producing no new inventions—then Mr. Murray's estimate may be accepted. But it would mean that within a few years American industry would become obsolete in operation and method and would lose out to the industry of a nation with an expanding economy.

Mr. Murray's unions would die with it.

Also, it must be obvious to the CIO leadership that already there is developing resistance to the increased prices of automobiles, refrigerators and other consumer durables. If American industry cannot operate at a profit it simply will not operate—and should not. Two years ago, UAW labor leaders cited profits in the automobile industry as a reason for increases. Today the operating loss of the automobile group—after tax refunds—is estimated at $135,000,000. One of the "cheap car" producers alone has a loss—after tax refunds—of about $50,000,000. Mr. Murray's figures are intellectually dishonest in that beginning with a sound basis of statistical fact, he proceeds to arrive at a wholly erroneous conclusion. It reminds us of the type argument school children delighted in a generation ago.

All dogs have two ears.

Persons have two ears.

Therefore all persons are dogs.

The profits are so much. True enough. But if they aren't used to expand the economy we all perish.

Let Mr. Murray be honest with himself, his members and the American people.

A Good—and Encouraging—Appointment

Announcement that Jim Page will serve as State Director of Parks during the next administration lends encouragement to those of us who have been advocating an expansion of Georgia's recreational facilities.

Mr. Page, as a hotel man of long standing, is ably qualified for the post. He has had much experience in catering to the public and one may be sure that he realizes the value of courteous and efficient operation of resort properties.

We note, in this connection, that the State has returned to Brunswick and Glynn County the $63,000 which they had appropriated toward establishment of a beach park in that area. It is our hope that they will not spend the money for other purposes, but deposit it for later use. Mr. Page is too good a businessman not to recognize the need—and the possibilities—of such ocean-front facilities.

Georgia has State parks in various locations across the State. But Georgia, for all its miles of coastline, has none beside the sea.

It is our hope that, under the capable direction of Mr. Page, the State Parks Department will immediately revive plans for construction and operation of a beach park to meet the obvious need.

Let's Mature Politically

The Constitution has no inside information, but because of persistent gossip by county officials, believes it necessary to express publicly the hope that Chief of Fulton County Police C. E. Mitchell will be retained in his position and not be made a political football by the change in balance of power in the 1947 County Commission.

In other words, we trust the persistent gossip is not true.

He inherited what probably was the most inefficient police force of comparable size in the nation.

Every one, including all the County Commissioners, have had a good word to say for the progress he has made. The Constitution did not support him, or any other man, for the job. But The Constitution does believe he has made progress and that his record merits support.

If we are to fire a police chief every time there is a change in the County Commission's majority group, we will keep the department in a turmoil and in politics.

So, we trust the gossip is just gossip and that we have matured enough politically to proceed in an intelligent manner.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 200 words.

Undelivered Orchids

Editor Constitution:

Save a hearty thank-you for Ralph McGill, the fighting Atlanta editor. He is really a newspaperman who makes devotees of a free press glow all over . . . McGill unleashed his heavy artillery at a nest of storm-trooping despicables. When the goons made a pitch at bullying the editor—it only inspired McGill to increase the rapidity of his salvos . . . No Inspection

Editor Constitution: I congratulate you on your editorial analysis of the Winecoff fire and the quotations from the article in the Atlantic Magazine. Under the circumstances we really do not have a chance.

My traveling is extensive and I have to stop in many hotels the country over. I have often pointed out fire hazards to hotel managers or other attaches. Usually they follow the line of least resistance, agree that "it is bad," but never attempt to correct the evil.

Jittery and curious, when I registered here I at once made an inspection of the floor upon which my room is located. The fire hose was without a nozzle. The hose is old and had been folded so long that it is obvious that were it handled for fire purposes it would go to pieces. Behind the hose had been stuffed a half dozen cotton cloths, some of them smelling of oil. Apparently the maids use them for dusting and this location is convenient. Suppose maids over a period of years find other convenient places in which to put oily rags. Then there must be quite an accumulation of inflammable material all over this Atlanta hotel. On this (third) floor there is a low cupboard built into the hall wall. I opened it and found a large peach basket lying on the floor. I am sure that since the Winecoff disaster there has been no extensive inspection of this hotel by the office of the Fire Marshal.

The answer to the problem is, obviously, sprinkler systems. They are expensive. But once installed they automatically bring insurance rates down to the lowest price that can be obtained. I do not think that sprinklers in halls and unguarded places are enough. I do not think that there is such a thing as an "unguarded" place. I think that the systems should be installed so many feet apart, in accordance with the recognized practice for their installation, in every location within the hotel's four walls. We people want to be assured that when we go to sleep at night we can wake up the next morning so that we can earn livings for our families.

LEONARD M. BRIN.

Atlanta.

Sympathy

Editor Constitution: For the Wheat Street Church and colored people of Atlanta, I wish to express deepest sympathy to the families and friends of those who were lost and injured in the Winecoff Hotel fire. I pray that God may sustain each one of them through this sudden and overwhelming sorrow.

WILLIAM HOLMES BORDERS,
Pastor, Wheat Street Baptist Church.

Metal Rungs

Editor Constitution: It occurs to me that without much detriment to construction features, the simple expediency of installing wrought iron or other metal rungs between alternate exterior pilasters of a building would result in a very effective and immediate lifesaving remedy for most of Atlanta's existing hotels and apartment houses.

These units need only be installed in alternate bays to serve adjacent windows. They would certainly provide reasonably safe egress and easy access for firemen and others, where ladders do not reach.

It is appreciated that architectural features might be involved, but with ingenuity they could be installed to blend with brick or stone joints and match window or other building lines.

WARREN G. YOUNG.

Atlanta.

Glory to Them

Editor Constitution: I have heard of the Red Cross and their work in disasters all my life, but during the Winecoff fire was the first time I have seen them in operation.

I think they have one of the most efficient setups I have ever seen, and I believe they deserve all the glory that could ever be afforded any organization.

When overcome by smoke, I was taken to Grady Hospital by Charles Gaddis and Capt. F. F. Anderson. At Grady I found another wonderful organization. Mr. Frank Wilson, his doctors and his nurses deserve the praise of all the citizens of this city.

What the Russians Read of Us

I wish to thump the tub for Harper's Magazine, of current issue, because of the presence therein of all six articles written for, and published by, the Soviet newspaper Isvestia (meaning News), from Ilya Ehrenburg.

Mr. Ehrenburg is easily the outstanding journalist, or newspaperman, of the Soviet Union. He is one of the world's most able writers and, while it probably will shock both of them, is somewhat related in style and approach to Mr. Westbrook Pegler, the American columnist.

I think the articles should be read because they constitute the first real report ever made to Soviet Russia by one of their own journalists after an American visit. There can be no dispute about this because Mr. Ehrenburg is not merely the first, but the only, Soviet journalist to make such a journey and report.

A great many persons have wondered what Russia hears about us. This is the best illustration of it. Not, of course, that it is all the Russians hear. But it is something almost every Russian will read. They all read Mr. Ehrenburg. Also, by now, I would imagine the articles have been published in pamphlet form and may be had at the various kiosks and shops dealing in such items.

They are objective articles, at least in so far as Mr. Ehrenburg is concerned, although few Americans, if any, will consider them so to be. The fact that some of the items presented as facts are but half truths, does not remove the bitterness of even the half truth.

And the fact that Mr. Ehrenburg was writing for home consumption, with an awareness also that the articles would be published in America, gave them perhaps even more objectivity than they otherwise would have had.

Skillful It is a skillful job. There are plenty of places where it may be attacked, but there always is enough truth in what he says to make the attacker uncomfortable, even though he lay on lustily and cries not at all, "Hold, enough."

So, I suggest the reading of Mr. Ehrenburg's articles. I offer no indorsement. I merely suggest it important they be read to see what Soviet citizens are hearing about us. And I do say they are as fair as the average "objective" piece about Russia presented to us, be it one of the saccharine, sweetly sick jobs by one of our fellow travelers, or one by one of our more hysterical viewers-with-alarm.

The South will like it least of all, because it is chiefly concerned with the South. He has done a very clever and typically Ehrenburg-ish job of propaganda. Where he wished to distort a bit for his purpose, he has done so. Where he wished to foreshorten for his special perspective, he has done so with great skill.

America But he writes of America, too, and in saying one must remember the age of the country to understand Americans, he is entirely correct. We have come from the percussion-cap rifle to the atom bomb in less than a man's average span of life. We have come from the log cabin to the air-conditioned apartment where electric "eyes" open doors and turn on radios, in the same span of time. Said he:

"There is nothing more the reverse of the British character and customs than the character and customs of the average American. The Englishman is polite and phlegmatic; he loves to live out his life in the home of his grandfather; he orders his suit of first-quality material, expecting to wear it, if not until he dies, at least until the next elections. The American likes only new clothes. Hardly has he furnished his apartment than he is looking for another. He never has a suit made to order; why should he? In any shop he can find a cheap, well-made suit; can wear it a little and then throw it out. He will buy a shirt that is not worth washing. He respects old stones, but loves flashy new ties—and noise.

"The history of the United States is indeed a new history. I might say, incidentally, that history studied by school children appears to vary in different States; in the North the Southerners are called 'defenders of slavery,' and in the South the Northerners are called 'oppressors.' Vexed issues here frequently hide the feeling of history. For the average American nearly a whole epoch passes between the morning and evening papers; he doesn't always remember in the evening exactly what disturbed him in the morning. One lady told me: 'Don't read this novel. It's not a new one; it came out two years ago.'"

He was impressed with production and the standard of living, saying:

"Anti-Soviet ideologists like to depict our country as a sort of barracks in which everyone is deprived of individuality. The Soviet reader will be amused by the surprise of some American editors who, on seeing us three visitors, said in amazement: 'Why, they don't look much like one another.'

"As a matter of fact, I don't know of any country which has achieved such perfection in standardization as the United States. I was in dozens of American cities which were impossible to distinguish from each other. Every city has its Main Street—the principal street—with fashion shops, a cinema, and lighted signs advertising cigarettes or Coca-Cola. Not a single American can distinguish Main Street in one town from Main Street in one of a hundred others from a photograph. Naturally, New York has its own distinctive character, yet Americans usually complain that 'New York is not America.' For the inhabitants of Birmingham or St. Louis, gigantic New York, with its many different races, is like a headquarters or a den of freethinkers. . . ."

"Trousers, percolators, and armchairs are standardized, too. I do not say this reproachfully, for Americans have succeeded in raising the material level of life, thanks to mass production. I think we can learn something from the Americans; how to turn out shoes or saucepans quickly and well. However, almost all luxury articles in America are imported and a salesman who wishes to explain why this or that is expensive says, 'But this is imported.'

"There is a certain depression in such uniformity: the same houses, the same furniture, the same crockery; men in identical suits, women in identical dresses. But still I do not agree with the European aesthetes who have ridiculed the standardization in America. Perhaps all the suits are alike; on the other hand, they are accessible to all."

Anyhow, read the articles for what they are.

Rudeness to Clerks Stigma of Ignorance

We heard much during the war years, when stores, restaurants and other public service establishments found employes scarce, when many articles were but rarely found, about the impoliteness of some sales persons towards potential or actual customers.

Some of us swore that, when the day came that our patronage was again something to be competed for, we would return tit for tat, get our revenge. I am hoping, as this is written, that all those vows of retaliation have been forgotten. For, after all, discourtesy is a reflection on the perpetrator, not on the victim.

Jack Benny, in his radio program last Sunday, enacted a department store scene in which he, as the customer, drove a patient clerk into neurotic hysteria because the customer (Benny) couldn't make up his mind whether he should purchase a pair of shoe laces with metal tips, or plastic tips. He changed his mind frequently, always just after the purchase was wrapped up and ready for him.

I'll bet there are some retail clerks today, in Atlanta, who would tell you that intended burlesque was too close to actual experience to be funny.

Embarrassing Moment I always recall, as perhaps the most embarrassing of many embarrassing experiences, the scene in a restaurant in which I was an unwilling participant.

I was the guest of this fellow I knew but slightly, dining with him as a matter of business. He found some tiny, minor fault with the service and, to my horror, began upbraiding the waitress in tones so loud they could be heard all over the place.

There was nothing I could do at the time, except sit there and suffer. Later, however, I went to the proprietor of the place to be sure he understood what had occurred and that the waitress would not suffer because of my companion's boorishness.

Recently, while at lunch, I saw a woman tell the waitress "this is the worst service I ever saw in my life." I couldn't hear her, but it was easy to know, by lip reading, exactly what she said.

As a matter of fact, the service was quite good. She had waited not so long as I, and I had no complaint.

The immediate thought in my mind was that she must customarily eat in one of those quick and greasy joints where they toss the food out without time to prepare it properly.

The point I'm trying to make is that such criticisms, especially when unwarranted, reveal the crudeness of the customer rather than reflecting on the clerk or waiter involved.

Annual Custom Some years ago appeal for considerateness in contacts with clerks was as much a part of Christmas as mistletoe or Santa Claus. It was made, in editorials, in cartoons, in columns, without fail, annually.

It seems to me it is a custom which could be profitably revived.

You have only to stroll through one of our big stores at any hour to realize the tremendous strain under which the sales people work these Christmas-shopping days. Look at the customers, standing two or three deep at every counter. Discover, in fact, that your stroll must change into a struggle if you would penetrate and get through the crowds.

It must be a hard and wearisome job, at best. Let us, the customers, at least see to it, in our own contacts, that the clerks serve only ladies and gentlemen.

Otherwise, we brand ourselves and reflect upon our own background and upbringing.

How Many Sinners?

Some religious leaders are now preaching against the ancient belief that man is born evil.

I don't profess to understand the doctrine of "original sin," but of this I am sure. If men are not born bad, all except a rare and saintly few soon become bad.

I once heard a devout lady say she could not remember ever having done anything she believed wrong, but few men could truthfully say as much—unless they have very poor memories.

OF COURSE IT ALL depends on the definition of badness. Many things that seem wrong to an American seem right to a Russian. But if we judge by the common definition of sin or evil or wrong, it will be difficult to find a man who has lived above reproach.

In a small Western city—so small that everybody knows everybody's business—a college boy was caught doing something that is commonly considered wrong. The college authorities felt in duty bound to expel him, but first they reported the matter to his father, a dignified and righteous minister.

The father turned against his son. He felt shamed and degraded. The boy had disgraced himself and his parents and deserved punishment. He was made to feel that his sin was unpardonable, and that he was unfit to associate with decent people.

IN TIME OF TROUBLE, some people turn to their minister. The minister took his son to the family doctor.

The boy, white and listless and broken in spirit, sat in the outer office staring at the floor while his father and the doctor talked in private.

The minister told his story and asked for advice. The doctor said: "First I will ask you a question. I know the answer, but I want to know whether you are man enough to tell the truth. Did you ever do the same thing when you were a boy?"

The minister flushed but said yes.

"THEN CALL YOUR SON in here," said the doctor, "and tell him so. Apologize to him for your hypocrisy and disloyalty. Tell him you are going to fight for him. Then go to the college authorities and tell them to drop the matter or you will have all of them on the witness stand to answer the question I asked you."

I once asked a respectable businessman what he would do if he knew my newspaper would appear next day with the story of his life, revealing every secret and hidden meanness and sin and wrong he had done since childhood. He grinned ruefully and said: "I wouldn't even take time to shoot you. I'd leave town tonight."

DISAPPOINTED?

(Walker County Messenger)

Some conservative Southern Democrats we know, who consistently fought President Roosevelt and who also have fought President Truman, will now probably feel quite at home in a Republican Senate and House. However, our prediction is that these fellows are going to be gravely disappointed when the Republicans get in the saddle, and that some of the pet measures they stood with the Republicans in other days against Roosevelt and Truman, are not going to be championed now by the Republicans. Time will tell.

Every Day Ladies' Day With Leo the Lover?

Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn baseball club, has been named in a Hollywood divorce case.

This comes as a shock to Dodger doters. They have known their hero as Leo the Lip, not Leo the Lover.

Stealing another's wife? Why, that's conduct unbecoming even a Giant fan. Has Leo forgotten the ground rules?

All over Flatbush, one hears the anguished cry: "Say it ain't so, Leo, say it ain't so."

And indeed their amazement is understandable. Durocher's the type to alienate umpires . . . but never a lady's affection.

Lippy might break up a Cardinal rally, but never a happy home. You wouldn't think he could get to first base with a woman, unless maybe on an intentional pass.

Besides, it's not like the old master of the hit-and-run to get caught in a double-play.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

National Democratic Chairman To Be Named

WASHINGTON—The question of naming a successor to Robert E. Hannegan as National Party Chairman seems likely to come up at the scheduled meeting of the Democratic National Committee here in January.

Mr. Hannegan, who also sits in the Truman Cabinet as Postmaster General, has been in poor health for some time. It was necessary for him to take several weeks off during the recent campaign to recuperate from his illness. Since then he has been compelled to go to Florida for a further rest.

All of this has given rise to more or less persistent reports of his impending resignation as National Chairman. He is expected to continue on in the Cabinet, but the dual responsibility of two jobs is said to be too much of a tax on his strength.

Speculation over his successor has been rife for some time. Already a number of names has been suggested. Foremost among these have been Gov. Robert S. Kerr, of Oklahoma, who goes out of office in January; Chester Bowles, the former OPA Administrator, and George Killion, the Californian who is now serving as Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Fund Raiser All three are men of high qualifications. Mr. Killion has made an exceedingly good record as a raiser of campaign funds, the lifeblood of organization activity. Mr. Bowles is rated as an exceptionally good organizer, while Gov. Kerr is a successful politician and administrator.

Aside from matters of health, there have been demands in some quarters for Mr. Hannegan's scalp ever since the November elections. Rightly or wrongly, the tendency has been to hold him responsible for a large measure of the blame for the Democratic failure.

It was ever this way in politics. The loser gets the blame. If the Democrats had held their own in the congressional contests, Mr. Hannegan, no doubt, would have been hailed as a successful director. As it is, he gets much of the credit for the defeat suffered.

The probabilities are that no one could have done much better.

A Change Nonetheless, the fact of the Democratic failure has caused many party stalwarts to feel that a change in the National Chairmanship is in order.

If the party is to put up a vigorous fight to retain the Presidency and recapture control of Congress in 1948, then it is necessary to bring new blood into the directorship of the National Committee, it is felt.

Few are so optimistic as to hope to find another Big Jim Farley, who goes down in the record as one of the most successful campaign managers of them all. But all things considered, including Mr. Hannegan's health, many feel that the best interest of the party would be served by selecting a new National Chairman.

There is little doubt of Mr. Hannegan's ability to stay on as long as he likes, or as long as his health permits. His relations with President Truman are such that he would not be let out, except at his own request.

From some of the conversations the President is known to have held with others on the subject, however, there are good reasons for believing that Mr. Hannegan has asked to be relieved of the post. Mr. Truman has indicated that he is looking around for a desirable man for the assignment.

Time Element The Democratic National Committee may or may not be called upon to elect Mr. Hannegan's successor when it meets here around the middle of next month. In view of the fact that organization activities will not get seriously under way until early in 1948, there seems to be no immediate need for naming a new Chairman. The most important function of the National Chairman between now and then will be the preliminary spade work.

From the way things went in the November election it is obvious that the Democrats will have to bestir themselves, if they have any hopes of continuing in power after the next election.

They will need to build up a well-organized machine during the coming two years. Even then there is no assurance of the party being able to withstand the trend which the November balloting revealed. But their chances will be improved if a closely-knit working organization is developed in the meantime.

"Traffic courts have declared war on drunken drivers and speed demons."—News item.

Next time we start a war and build great laboratories that are filled
With chemists toiling day and night to find new forms of dynamite,
Or bombs more potent than the ones dropped on the Land of Rising Suns,
There's one unused ingredient which they might find expedient
To bring more damage to the foe than any present chemists know.

Take parts of bourbon, Scotch or gin, mixed well, or straight and pour it in
Some careless or some thoughtless guy until he's feeling slightly high,
And when you know he's got a load just turn him loose upon the road.

He may be harmless, sweet and kind when he is in a sober mind,
But with the beverage that cheers his former kindness disappears,
And, being free of all controls, he wraps his car around the poles
And after this, quite strange to say, he scrambles out and walks away—
But sober men or little chaps are crippled up for life, perhaps,
Confined to suffer on their bunks, the victims of the driving drunks.

We are the people, proud and free, who boast about our liberty,
Who wave the flag and "point with pride" to people on the other side,
Who hang them when they maim and slay, but do it in another way.

The public laughs to see such sport, our sense of humor is so great
The driver pays a fine in court and fills another drunken date.

HAROLD MARTIN

Her Life Was Like A Warming Fire

She was 78 years old and she knew she didn't have long to stay. But she was thinking about other folks, and how she could make things easier for them, to the end. Even in the little things she was thinking ahead.

Just a few days before her stout heart failed her, she was talking to a neighbor.

"Well," the neighbor said, "I put my ferns away in the pit this morning, but I didn't take the time to repot them. I guess I'll have to do it in the Spring."

"I repotted mine," said Miss Dora, "for I won't be here in the Spring to see about them. But I fixed it so all the children will have to do will be to take them out and put them in the sun. They are all ready."

And when Spring comes she won't be there to look after her flowers. But when the children take the ferns out, they will remember her and know she was thinking of them, and saving them trouble.

Beloved A lot of people in Commerce and in all the community around will remember her. For her heart was full of kindness and of laughter.

"She was always where there was trouble," they said of her at the funeral. "Wherever there was death or sickness she was there to help. Yet she was not a sad person at all. She was always jolly. She had a lot of bravery, a lot of courage. She had troubles of her own, but she carried them without complaint."

I remember her that way myself; as a tall, straight-backed woman who always had a kind word, or a little joke, even for a small boy. I remember her as always being a leader in all things good for the community. In the Red Cross, in the UDC, in the work of the Presbyterian Church and in its missionary circles. Yet she was not the type who, in leading, offended those she led. People followed her because they loved her. She knew how to get the most out of folks, how to make them want to help.

She was not the kind who shouted her good works from the housetops. She just helped, whenever and wherever she could, and as the preacher said (there were four of them to pay her tribute) the boundaries of her love and compassion were as limitless as the sea. White and black had known her kindness. For her life was like a light, a warm and cheery fire which warmed the hearts of all she met.

Musical She loved to sing and play the piano and the organ. For years she played the music for the gathering of the Sunday school, and at nearly every church service she sang in the quartet. She knew the power of music to soothe the troubled heart, and at nearly every funeral she sang. Many times, when someone in the country had died, and many town folks did not feel that they could brave the cold rain and the deep mud of the dirt roads to go to the little country church where the service was to be held, Miss Dora went.

"I've known that family all my life," she said. "I feel like I ought to be there." And she would go and sing and play the great old songs which speak to the hearts of those in sorrow.

It is no wonder then that she who had served so many should be remembered by so many. For when they read in the paper that Mrs. A. B. Deadwyler, whom they knew as "Miss Dora," had died, they came from all the country 'round and their floral offerings were so many they banked all the front of the church with bloom.

And I know that when she got up there to the foot of the great white throne that all the golden trumpets blew for her—and all the angels sang.

CHANNING COPE

Ways of Warmth And a Real Firemaker

Out in the country there is a whole lot more to fire making than the turning of a valve or the touching of the match to the gas outlets. Still and all, there are SOME country homes with central heating and there are many which make use of the blessings of butane gas.

But in the main, the fire making is done with wood of various kinds and sizes. Most firemakers of our acquaintance (country firemakers) follow the same system. A few wads of newspaper are placed on the fireplace floor; kindling is placed on the paper; small-sized pieces of dry wood are then laid on the kindling and a final top layer of oak or ash, or other green wood, is applied. Holly Springs farm follows this method, as does the Pleasant Valley plantation, and there are many others. At Yellow River farm, Will Johnson makes the fires and he follows this method, but in reverse. Uncle Will puts the big wood on the ground floor, the kindling on top of that and the paper on top. It is about as successful as you would expect.

THE OLD POT-BELLIED stoves are taking on city ways these days and many are the homes and country stores which augment the burning of green wood with minute drops of crankcase oil, placed in a tank over the stove and made in such manner as to permit the oil to fall, drop by drop onto the burning mass within the stove. There are few if any corn cobs now left for burning purposes, it being known that corn-cob meal to the extent of twice the amount of corn, is a good cattle feed. There are new wood heaters appearing in many country homes; heaters which can be stoked with green wood and the fire made to last for hours on end, by the judicious use of various dampers, four in number. These are fine instruments of comfort and will in time be found in every farm home worth the name.

THINKING OF FIRES and firemakers we have known, our thoughts come to rest on our own nearest and dearest kinsman, Capt. Willard Cope, recently of Uncle Sam's Army and more recently of UNRRA, but whose training in fire making harks back to the days of his association with newshawks on the Montgomery Advertiser, the New Orleans Times Picayune, the Atlanta Georgian, the Atlanta Constitution, and others. Brother Willard Cope might well be called an effective firemaker, a firemaker to end all firemakers. And for reasons of practicality. It was in this way! He was called into the Army on the Eve before Christmas. It was cold. He was immediately shipped to upper Michigan. It was very cold. Training classes were held in the open at temperatures ranging from 5 below to 5 above zero. He was shipped to England in February on a tramp steamer. It was cold and it was damp. He spent the war commuting between France and Holland and England and Germany and Switzerland; but always in the coldest parts of these countries.

FOR MORE THAN two years he never knew what it was to get warm. Here is Firemaker Cope's method of bringing warmth and cheer to the household. "A fire is easy to make," says he, "if you have the proper ingredients. All that is needed is some South Georgia fat-wood, some shavings from a turpentine still, some coal, some dry hardwood, a bucket of kerosene, and a Cape Cod lighter."

Brother Cope pledged himself while abroad that if he ever got home safely from the war he would get himself warm. He is keeping the pledge. Faithfully!

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Delinquency Fountainhead

NEW YORK—Tom Clark, the United States Attorney General, has invited sports writers from all sections of the country to meet in Washington and form a national organization to encourage "millions of American youngsters" to take more interest in clean sports and other recreational activities.

My colleague, Bill Corum, announces his intention to be there and his personal conviction that "the world of sports has a golden opportunity here, not to say a challenge."

I AM A LITTLE SKEPTICAL as to the possibilities, believing that the strange, hard little chippies that I see hanging around the Waldorf when certain crooners and moaners are performing in the Wedgwood Room, and certain notorious Hollywood characters are in residence in the Tower, would be indifferent to any appeal from the most eloquent sports writer that ever lived, and that the fault lies not with these ominous young guttersnipes but with the parents who let hem run wild. They are a cult, and a national cult at that. Some of the demonstrations of mass hysteria which they have presented here on high-pressure Hollywood occasions deliberately engineered by moving picture promoters have had about them a phychological reminder of the children's crusade.

Now I don't know what the sport writers could do about that, but one thing they could do is to draw a line again between sports and the trash called sports, and between the world of sports and the underworld. That line has been obliterated by writers who should have maintained it.

ON TWO OCCASIONS recently, I have observed a strange reaction on the sports pages. Once, after reading several rather hurt references to the presence of Hollywood "jerks" around Leo Durocher's dressing room and the cavalier treatment of baseball reporters at the Brooklyn ball-yard, I made a careful investigation of the crap game at Durocher's New York apartment in which a sucker was clipped for a fortune by George Raft, the synthetic tough guy of the moving pictures, who not only plays gangster roles in the films but, by choice and the commitment of long social habit, has made himself an underworld character.

NOW, BASEBALL WRITERS normally are preoccupied with runs, hits and errors and percentages and trades. But it is their business as reporters to learn and tell the public what goes on otherwise in baseball. They kicked this one. The original story of the sucker's hard luck at Durocher's apartment broke as a bit of city-side routine and the sport side showed no enterprise or initiative, beyond a few gossipy allusions, in a matter that certainly consists with Tom Clark's proposal to keep sport clean and an inspiration to young boys and girls, young men and women. The complete story never has been told because as long as the district attorney's office kept the case open, Durocher's intimate friend, Raft, remained inaccessible to the investigators. As far as they knew, and they kept a watch, he stayed out of New York. However, enough was told to identify Raft with some of the most notorious underworld characters of Broadway, Hollywood and the Miamis, and Durocher with Raft and Siegal.

Yet, the strongest reaction to this first comprehensive presentation of the facts was a flippant and friendly justification of Raft's great luck in throwing tens and fours the hard way 13 times in the crap game and an attempt to justify Durocher's association with Raft as an accidental thing, like the time that Tom Dewey was photographed with a couple of men who, long afterward, turned out to be Communists. Dewey didn't visit their homes or run with Communists habitually.

More recently, Judge William G. Bramham, the retiring Commissioner of the minor leagues of professional baseball, announced that he had discovered "moral laxity among certain officials, players and fans," instances of intimidation of players by thugs with an interest in gambling and collusion between players and bookmakers. These were matters that baseball reporters themselvs should have found out and exposed, and, in view of familiar symptoms and associations in New York, there is no excuse for a complacent assumption that such things can't happen in the major leagues as well.

JUDGE BRAMHAM'S REWARD, however, was a political response in which he was ridiculed and rebuked for waiting until he was about to retire to disclose conditions which were not denied or even investigated by the sport side, but were minimized and, in a word, dismissed.

Now the professional football business is infested with men who come from the gambling and promotional side of horse racing and even dog racing, and the betting on the point-spread system on college football, a new craze, has spread to hundreds of campuses. The biggest operator in professional gambling in the world told me last week that the gross handle for the college football season which just closed was easily $1,500,000,000. One spectacular gambler in a small Midwestern city called many college coaches every Friday night during the season, probably to exchange social greetings, but possibly to get information.

THE MOVIES AND RADIO now are hand-in-glove. Radio plugs the movies, and many Hollywood actors and many of the night club and underworld trash of the movie industry take turns on the air. Raft has done both movies and radio, and Durocher has become a radio performer. The response, generally, to the Raft-Durocher matter, in the privileged newspaper features which consist mostly of gratuitous publicity, was a defense of Raft.

CELESTINE SIBLEY

Yuletide Miracle Makes Susy 'A Angel'

We were inclined to regard it as one of those miracles that happen around the merrie Yuletide. For days Susy had yelped about not being in the Christmas play—the selfsame one Jimmy was kinging in and Sally Jane was angeling in. Susy had made our every waking moment at home horrible because of the play.

"YOU WON'T LET me be in the play," she yelled accusingly. "Everybody else is a angel. Sally Jane is a angel. Nearly everybody is a angel but me. And I'm nothing—just nothing!"

We tried feebly to explain. Everybody couldn't be in the Christmas play, we said. The teachers had to let some children be the audience.

WE MADE THE MISTAKE of adding that the teachers were trying to be considerate of Susy's mama, also, knowing as they did our struggles to convert two tired old window drapes into royal robes for Jimmy. We quoted Susy's teacher as saying she just couldn't ask us to add the construction of angel's wings and star-spangled robes to our other duties.

"See there!" bellowed Susy. "You didn't want me to have wings!"

"Aw, shut up," muttered Jimmy. "You're talking like a dumb dope."

Mutely we echoed his sentiments but we couldn't help wishing Susy could get around to being happy.

THEN THE MIRACLE happened. They had the play for the PTA and then they gave a repeat performance for the school children. The afternoon kindergarten crowd came early to be on hand. Jimmy jubilantly gave us a private report on it.

"There I was, standing backstage," he said. "The angels came marching on and I said to myself, 'That looks like a new angel over there with the frizzy hair.' And guess who it was!"

We were mystified.

"It was Susy!" shouted Jimmy. "Your daughter, Susy!"

Susy made a dramatic entrance at that point looking properly modest.

"IT WAS NOTHING," she explained. "Janet just didn't come and her costume was there. The teacher asked me if I wanted to be in it—and I put on Janet's dress and her wings."

"Oh, that's marvelous," we cried.

It was, we reflected, traditional stand-in's luck. It was as good as having the star break her leg. Ah, now our middle child could enter the Yuletide season with happiness and good cheer.

But we ought to have known Susy better than that. She's one to look even a miracle in the mouth.

"I was a angel all right," admitted Susy, "but I didn't have a bit of lipstick and rouge on like the other angels did. Why don't you let me take your lipstick to school? Huh, why don't you?"

We looked at our washed-out angel in hopeless despair, which Jimmy, as usual, gave voice to:

"Oh, you big ole dumb dope!"

HAROLD L. ICKES

Wyatt Is Gone, and That Isn't Funny, George!

The housing program, so bravely launched by President Truman and so ably administered by Wilson Wyatt, has been flushed down the drain. In the circumstances, Mr. Wyatt did the only thing that a self-respecting man could do. He resigned. This is particularly unfortunate because there can be no doubt that Mr. Wyatt was pretty nearly the last outstanding man in an administration the deck of which is awash with hungry water.

President Truman promises lightly and reneges on his promises even more lightly. His selection of Mr. Wyatt as Housing Expediter was excellent. Unfortunately for the veterans, those who too often have the final say at the White House first slowed up the housing program until they could persuade the President to adopt the scuttling policy that was put into effect on Dec. 3.

NOT ONLY WAS power to do the housing job granted by the Patman Act, it was clearly set out in an Executive Order signed by the President himself. So, by statute and by Presidential decree, Wyatt had plenty of authority. But when he aimed a directive at George E. Allen, and Allen refused to obey it, the only recourse was to appeal to the President. This Mr. Wyatt finally did. At first, the President stalled, and then Allen and his merry men got busy. They tossed a forward to Capt. Clifford, who crossed the goal line while Referee Truman blew for a touchdown against the veterans.

The first crippling blow at the housing program was at the hands of the present Secretary of the Interior, Mr. A. J. Krug. As Chairman of the War Production Board, he sunk without trace "L-41," an order giving priority to building materials for low-cost housing. With this priority struck down, there resulted a rash of skating rinks, bowling alley, etc. Thus the veterans will be able to bowl with their wives and infants, even if they have no roof over their heads.

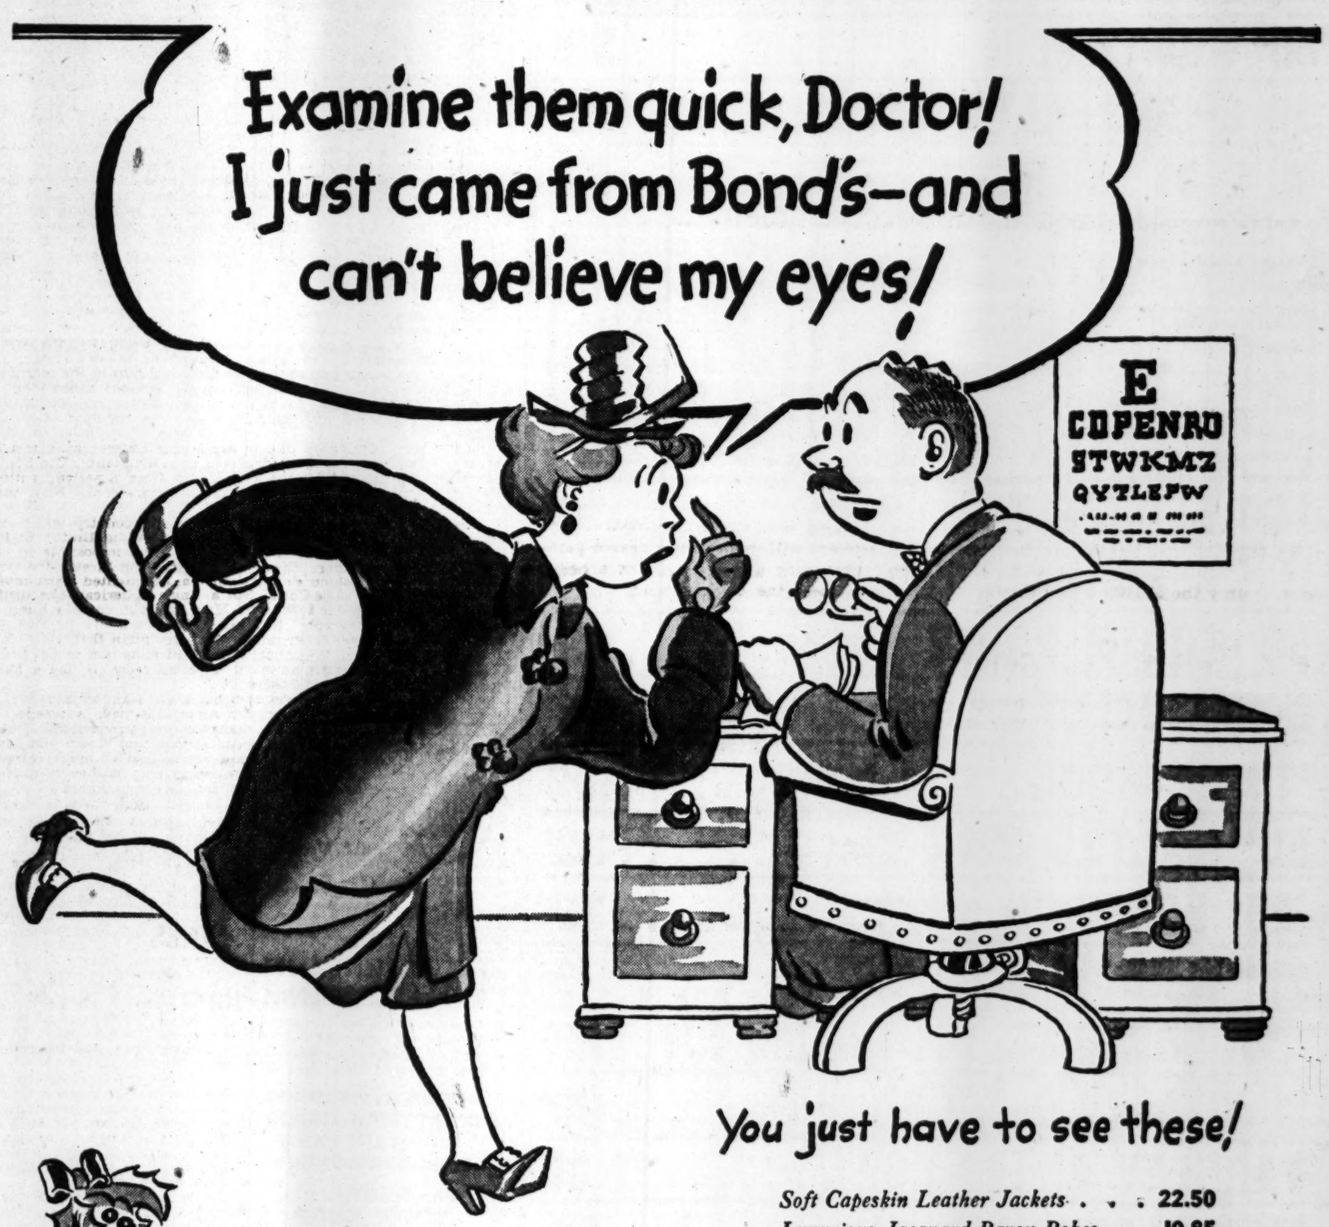

FOLLOWING MR. KRUG'S retreat, strike followed strike. Housing went into the ash can. With prices constantly rising, as one decontrol fell after another, it was necessary to raise wages, increases of which were followed by still higher prices. In many instances higher wages could have been paid out of the huge profits that were being made, but the policy of the administration was to protect profits, while adding as little as possible to wages. Under the clamorous leadership of the NAM and the powerful real estate lobby, with inside help at the White House, the country was reverting to the status of "business as usual."

Those who completed the destruction of the President's unwanted housing program were those political termites that had burrowed in at the White House —George E. Allen the Jester; Dr. John R. Steelman the suave; the incredible John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury; John D. Small (also recently resigned); and Capt. Clifford, the Naval Aide of the President, and his personal lawyer. The last named comes from Missouri also, from St. Louis in fact, where he was the attorney of Commodore Vardaman in litigation in which that gentleman was engaged. Capt. Clifford operates as the high executioner of this clique after the assent of President Truman, which has now become automatic, has been obtained. It was Capt. Clifford who finally told Mr. Wyatt that the President's promises on housing had gone with the wind.

MOST OF THE STRATEGY for destroying the housing program was developed by George E. Allen. He and Capt. Clifford work so closely together that the Captain has come to adopt Allen's clinches, one of them being that "prefabrication would destroy real estate values." Instead of providing adequate housing for returned veterans, these masterminds are now working on a theory of scarcity which will mean higher housing costs. Henry A. Wallace's conception of killing little pigs was not nearly so brilliant as is Mr. Allen's plan to kill prefabricated houses for veterans.

MR. ALLEN ALSO believes that it is more important to get a bill through Congress next year, extending the life of the RFC, and therefore his job, than it is to build houses. The veterans, whose hopes of being able to buy or rent prefabricated houses at reasonable prices have been dashed, may have any consolation that may be gleaned from Allen's membership on RFC.

George E. Allen is a funny-man to President Truman. He is to the country, too. But the country is in no mood to laugh.

MARRIAGES

day the Chattanooga Pastors' Association came out with an approval of the lawyers' report and suggested they ask their Georgia brothers of the faith to take some active steps against Georgia's lax marriage laws. That the Pastors' President, Dr. Arnold Slater, Minister of Pilgrim Congregational Church, explained his group as "loathe to make suggestions for Georgia, when Tennessee needed so much improvement" did little to soften the sting.

"I declare, that hurt me," said the Rev. George McClure, a retired Baptist minister who helps out with marrying in the office of Squire Ray Crow in Rossville, especially while Crow is attending to his county's business in the Georgia Assembly. "I don't appreciate my good church friends casting aspersions at our marriages one bit. They say it's only the riffraff that comes to us. Why,

PASTOR McCLURE
"That's How Strict We Are"

I've had a lot of fine women stand right before me at this table, clinging to their white prayer books and ask me for a prayer after they'd said their vows.

"Lots of them I'd led to Christ myself. And in my home in Ringgold, in Catoosa, that is—I can issue licenses in Catoosa because I'm a Deputy Clerk—I have them coming all the time because they've heard of me, and want a good, Christian ceremony. And none of us marry folks too young or drinking. Many's the time I've said, 'Friend, you've been drinking a little, haven't you?' and stopped the wedding. And one day not long ago I heard Squire Crow ask a girl if she was 18, and she said she would be 18 the next day. He smiled at her real kindly and said, 'Well, then, come back tomorrow.' That's how strict we are."

Rossville has been dodging insults from Chattanooga for years, since Tennessee enacted a law requiring a pre-marital examination and a health certificate, as well as a five-day waiting period before the ceremony could be performed. The harassment has led them to some suspicion of outsiders asking questions, but has not impaired their business. Thirty-two justices were kept on their toes in 1945 tying an estimated 7,200 marital knots in the County, with Rossville's Mayor, Herman Bowman himself considered a marrying man par excellence.

"I have no statement to make," Bowman said, coldly, keeping his seat. "You can see my boss, Ordinary Keown in Lafayette."

Such shyness has not been the vogue in neighboring Dade, a County removed from the lushly romantic population of Chattanooga. Dade has shielded itself from nasty remarks from Alabama, a State likewise given to those "racketeering little health slips," and meanwhile developing an insouciant, sweet attitude toward marriage that has made up for its geographical disadvantage.

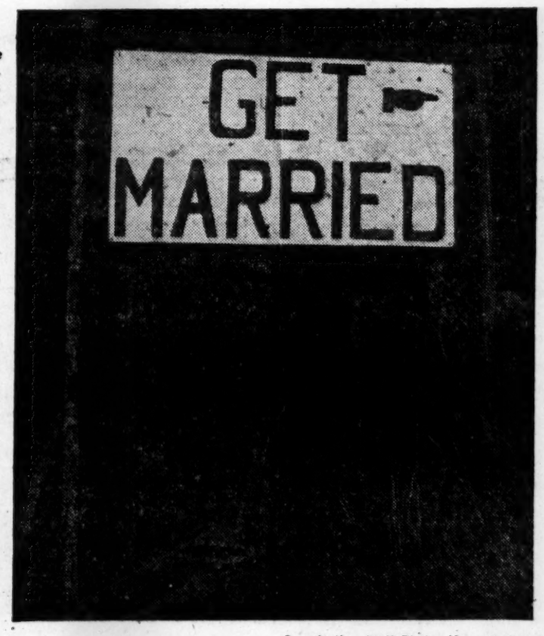

In Dade, four men attend to the sanctity of marriage, and only three of them have really become established in the business, as they call it. Claude S. Turner, editor of the local paper, is a novitiate and has performed only one ceremony. Hiram F. Allison, a blithe dealer in insurance and real estate, and Ordinary J. M. Carroll are considered the heirs to the $10,000 or $12,000 annual business of the notable Squire W. W. Hale, of Rising Fawn, now 82, and critically ill.

Hale is a tradition in Dade County, which respects him for his vision as the pioneer in quick marriages. He was the first J. P. 30 years ago who glimpsed the need for streamlined weddings, and turned his livelihood into a commercial art.

It is he who developed four variations on the wedding theme, which, according to Georgia minimum requirements, is distastefully terse and dry, and neglects even the affectionate bond of a wedding ring. In his better days Hale was wont to offer lovers any of four or five ceremonies, including a double ring act which cost something over $10, and a wedding with phonograph music, at the same cost. When the old Lohengrin record wore out, Hale substituted poetry.

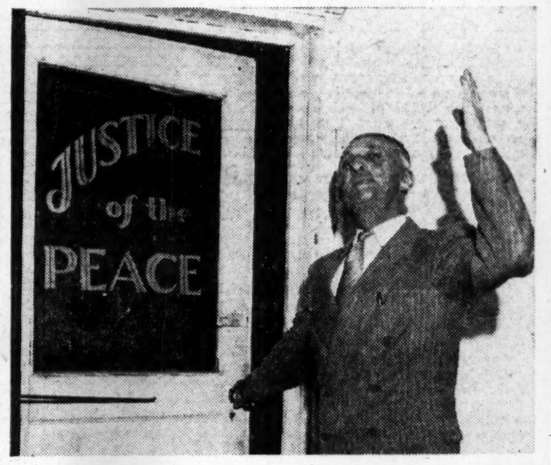

He developed a genial little patter to overcome the apparent lack of demonstration which seems to pervade marriage in dusty, unglamorous offices where Justices of the Peace preside.

"Kiss your bride heartily," he would command, "and give me couple rushed in, and asked for a license.

WHO COULD RESIST IT?—The lighted highway sign of Squire W. W. Hale, pioneer in the marrying business of Dade County and author of "You've got your honey; I've got my money!" Hale for 30 years has "dearly loved marrying people," is now 82, and critically ill.

While the bus waited, the four were ostensibly merged from that day forward.

"Papa dearly loves marrying people," said his daughter, Fanny, yesterday, "that's all he talks about now. Last week we propped him up beside the fireplace and he married a couple, but it was too much for him. This week we carried a couple to his bedside, and he married them.

"And I just don't know when he'll be able to marry another one," said Miss Fanny. "I do hope he'll get well enough to read your story. Next to marrying, Papa loves publicity."

$5.00;" or, in a jovial mood, punching the groom sharply in the ribs, "You've got your honey; I've got my money! Bring the young 'uns to see the old Squire!"

Hale's sign, on the highway, is starkly simple, befitting his position in the marryin' coterie. Much less elaborate than other wedding come-ons, it is unadorned, standing bathed in light like a commanding beacon on the highway: "Get Married."

Such persuasive power has it shown that not long ago a Greyhound bus drew up in front of the aging Hale's rambling house and a couple scurried in to become one. As the Squire finished the two-minute quickie, another

Butts Wins Games And Friends, Too

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Dec. 12—Wally Butts, the Georgia football coach, made the main speech at the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet here tonight.

The dinner is given in honor of the Alabama football team each year. It is one of the more popular occasions of its kind and is always attended by leading coaches and sports writers and most everybody else able to secure an invitation.

It is made even more popular this year because of the annual Southeastern Conference meeting which will be held here Friday and Saturday. The Jaycee banquet was the unofficial opening of the league confab.

There are a lot of people, Georgia people, wondering why Wally Butts takes the time and trouble to put in a personal appearance at so many "outside" football banquets each year.

He realizes more than anybody else that he has a football game to play in the Sugar Bowl and if there are those who think the banquet league will interfere with his coaching for it, let their fears be stilled.

The Little Round Man knows what he is doing.

He is a great after-dinner speaker. His dry wit and original expressions explode spontaneously and enthusiastically. He makes a big hit with his audiences. His talks can't be copied and we have yet to see a reporter who could satisfactorily report a speech by Butts. There is something there which cannot be described. His funniest remarks are meaningless on paper.

But, as we said, he knows what he is doing, fighting this banquet league.

He doesn't always enjoy it, except on occasions such as this, when he is among some of his best friends. However, he knows that by making these appearances he is helping Georgia and himself. And Georgia is his first love.

Wally has developed more "synthetic" alumni than we would care to estimate. It is amazing, the people over the country who have never seen the inside of a college or been near Athens, but who are the biggest Bulldog supporters ever to yell for a touchdown.

In Atlanta there are those who attended no university but who have adopted Georgia because of the Little Round Man who has done such a good job of organizing a strife-torn alumni.

Classic Example A classic example of the support from Georgia's synthetic alumni was at the Georgia-Temple game at the start of the season. Approximately 3,000 people from the coal-mining vicinity of Pittston, Pa., came to Philadelphia to root for and pull for Charlie Trippi and Georgia against the "home" team of Temple.

They came by auto, by train and by bus. For some of them it was their one trip away from home for the year. But they were there. And each wore a big red badge of a Bulldog and the red and black ribbons of Georgia.

Many of them were in Athens for the Tech-Georgia contest.

Of course, the fact that Trippi, their native son and relative, was on the team had a lot to do with their coming to the games. But after Trippi leaves, they still will be Georgia "alumni."

Butts annually makes a trip to such places as Pittston, Forty-Fort, Glen Lyon and Connelsville, Pa. He makes speeches at high school banquets in these towns.

His appearance is regarded almost as a legal holiday. The citizens give a big dinner in his honor. They pack him lunches to take on the train. They invite him to their homes. They give him presents.

And once in a while they come up with a Trippi or a Rauch or a Tereshinski.

Of course, Mr. Butts doesn't refuse their hospitality. Especially in the latter case.

Another Rumor It is remarkable the way these Alabama people have adopted the Georgia head coach, who has defeated their team three times in five meetings.

There are those who insist Wally will replace Frank Thomas as head coach of the Crimson Tide if and when Tommy retires from active coaching.

There is only one basis for the belief.

It is the fact that the 'Bama people would like to have him.

So would a lot of other colleges.

But Butts loves Georgia and has no desire to leave.

This isn't the first time the Little Round Man has appeared before an Alabama audience. He was speaker last year before the alumni society and sent the Crimson on its way to the Rose Bowl. He already has made a speech this year to that group. This was his second of the season to Tide fans.

That is quite a compliment—especially when your team is winner over Alabama.

Nope, The Little Round Man isn't dumb.

22 Bulldogs Have Bowl Experience

By JACK JACKSON

ATHENS, Dec. 12—Whether the Georgia football team can detail Charlie Justice and his Carolina choo choo won't be answered until Jan. 1, but win, lose or draw, the Georgians shouldn't be suffering from stage fright, for no less than 22 of Wally Butts' boys have previous bowl experience.

Three of the Bulldogs, Captain Charlie Trippi, Bulldog Williams, and Joe Tereshinski, will be making their third New Year's Day appearances. Williams got the earliest start appearing along with one other '46 squad member, Mel Bray, on the Orange Bowl champs, back on Jan. 1, 1942. All three-time participants were members of the 1942 team which trimmed UCLA in the Rose Bowl, and Trippi and Tereshinski returned from service in time for last season's Oil Bowl win over Tulsa.

In addition Trippi has appeared in the Blue-Grey classic and in Arch Ward's August College All-Star game in Chicago while a member of service teams.

Bray, reserve fullback, made the Orange Bowl squad, but wasn't around again until this Fall. Dick Richardson, reserve guard; Dick McPhee, regular fullback, are other Rose Bowlers.

Last year's Oil Bowl game was the first post-season appearance of Dan Edwards, Weyman Sellers, Reid Mosley, Andy Perhach, Herb St. John, Gene Alexander, George Jernigan, Mike Cooley, Jerry Deleski, Al Jeffery, Johnny Rauch, John Donaldson, Stan Nestorak, Rabbit Smith, Joe Chesna and Richard Lee.

In contrast, the New Orleans battle will be the University of North Carolina's first bowl game.

The Bulldogs continued to loosen up today preparatory to beginning serious work on Monday. The squad is in good shape. Coach Wally Butts, now on a speaking tour, will return to Athens this weekend.

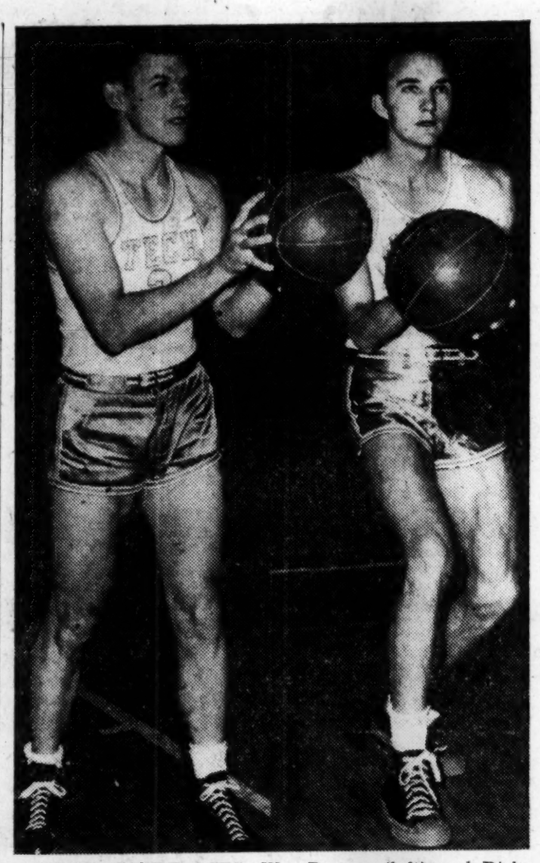

North Fulton Fetes Gridders

North Fulton High School banqueted its 1946 Bulldog football team last night in the school cafeteria with Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech as guest speaker. Coach Dodd showed the Tech-Tulane football film.

Guests present included officers of the North Side Dads Club, Everett Strupper, J. S. Bonner, Joe Alexander, Sam McDaniels, Frank Davis, Marcus Cook, Sr., and reporters.

Players receiving gold footballs were Capt. Emmett Hanley, Alt. Capt. Jamie Bonner, and Eben Tilly. Awarded jackets and letters were Marcus Cook, Billy Gow, Tommy Rentz, and Jimmy Mapp. Earning sweaters and letters, Bill Bullard, Bill Bentley, Buddy Cogburn, Leonard Gordon, Ralph Langford, Jerry Christian, Harry Mehre, Joe Morris, Jimmy Guest, Lewis Sturner, Turlington, and Malloy. Four managers presented with sweaters and letters were Franklin Wright, Dennis Durden, Bobby Burkes, and Dick Boeke.

Those earning "B" team letters included Barney Maltby, Bill Beach, Dick Weibel, Pat Brogan, Louis Lambert, Bob Becknell, Jim Davenport, Stanley Lambert, Binky Perkinson, Harold Weldon, Jimmy Bradford, Thomas Vann, Arthur Newton, Joe Crawford, George Poole, Bobby Brown, and Manager Teddy Roberts.

JACKET COURT ACES—Wes Paxson (left) and Dick Collier (right), a pair of forwards who starred on the 1944 and 1945 Tech teams before departing for duty with the armed forces, will man the forward positions when Coach Roy McArthur's charges open their 1946-47 campaign against the University of Chattanooga tonight.

Jacket Cage Squadron Opens Season Tonight

By JIMMIE WALL

Georgia Tech's veteran basketball squad makes its 1946 debut tonight in the Tech gymnasium against the University of Chattanooga Moccasins in a game scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

Coach Roy MacArthur, the new Jacket head coach, plans to start five lettermen in the battle to which only Tech students and players' families will be admitted. The gym, with a seating capacity of 2,000, isn't large enough to hold the entire student body, thus necessitating the public ban.

The Jackets, potentially the best quintet at the Flats since 1939, are heavy favorites to down the Moccasins.

Tonight's game is the first of a three-game home stand the Jackets will make before Christmas. South Carolina's Gamecocks invade the Flats for the second fray tomorrow night, while Davidson College will be entertained Thursday night.

At the close of a light workout in the Tech gymnasium yesterday afternoon, Coach MacArthur announced he would start the same five men that he has been working with for the past week. Capt. Herb Bergman and Frank Broyles will open at the guard posts, with Alternate Capt. Wesley Paxson and Dick Collier at forwards and Spider Jim Nolan at the center slot. These lads, all of whom have seen first-string duty on Tech cage squads in the last three years, will average six feet three in height, with Nolan's six feet nine topping the crew.

The squad will leave Dec. 27 for Boston College, where they will meet the Eagles in the opener of a three-game Northern tour Dec. 31. Other teams to be played on this tour are University of Detroit and Michigan State.

Atlanta Y Trims Benning, 44-43

The Atlanta Y defeated the Fort Benning Profs, 44-43, Wednesday at the YMCA. The winners led at the half, 17-10, but the Profs rallied to pull one point ahead at the end of the third quarter. The Y surged back in the final period to win. Warren Byrne poured 10 field goals through for a total of 20 points to lead all scorers for the night.

In the YMCA Metropolitan loop, Post 169 rolled to an easy 39-8 victory over the Panthers, with Gant hitting the nets for 14 points to pass the winners.

Also in the Metropolitan League, Ahepa trounced Son of Pericles, 49-24. Johnson and Poolos sank 15 and 13 points, respectively, for the victors, while Alexander paced the losers with eight.

In the Southeast Branch YMCA Boys' League, the Night Hawks swamped East Atlanta, 62-32. Hiest bagged 31 points for the winners, while Addy pitched in 14 for the losers.

Dodd Says Married GIs Made Tech Good Eleven

By F. M. WILLIAMS

Married GIs, number one problem for most football coaches last season, are responsible for Georgia Tech being in the Oil Bowl, according to Coach Bobby Dodd.

As the Jackets returned to the gridiron yesterday to get ready for the Jan. 1 engagement in Houston with the Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's College, Dodd paused to pay tribute to the men who came back from service and sparked the team to eight victories and only two defeats.

"Every coach in the country expected a lot of trouble from the returning servicemen and we were no exception," Coach Dodd said after sending his charges through a light drill in misty weather. "But we found our GIs had even more spirit than when they went away to war and their unity was most amazing."

Coach Dodd singled out such married veterans as Pat McHugh and Frank Broyles, in the backfield; Bill Healey, Ralph Slaton, "Rabbit" Jordan, in the line, for praise.

"All our married GIs live in one apartment house at Marietta and I believe the close association between the boys and the wives brought about the unity that is most necessary for a winning football team," Coach Dodd said.

Three other ex-servicemen, none of them married, were praised by the Jacket coach. They are Linemen Rollo Phillips and Walter Kilzer and Fullback Dinky Bowen.

"So it seems," Dodd smiled, "that the very source where we expected most of our coaching problems to originate turned out to be no problem at all, but instead the difference between a winning and losing season."

Thirty-eight members of the varsity squad were presented expensive wrist watches following yesterday's short drill, held in sweat clothes and consisting mainly of running.

Similar drills will be held the remainder of the week with the rough stuff scheduled to open on Monday.

Coach Dodd will miss the first couple of workouts next week, going to Houston to arrange for practice sessions while on the scene of the Oil Bowl battle.

It is definite now that the entire Tech party will fly to the game, leaving Atlanta in two special planes the day after Christmas. Headquarters in Houston will be the Rice Hotel.

Nothing ever gets lost — only misplaced—if you use a Constitution Want Ad to find it.

DUCK HUNTERS FROM GEORGIA BAG THE LIMIT

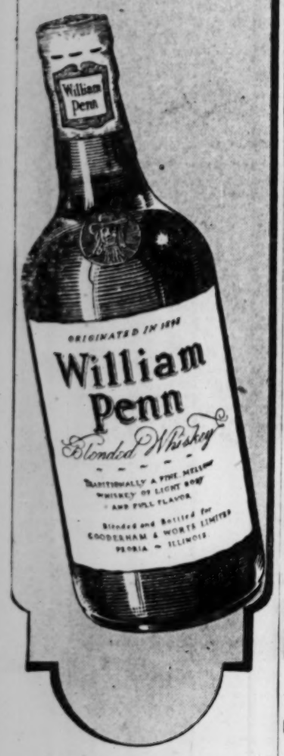

STUTTGART, Ark., Dec. 12. Three Georgia duck hunters, Loy Lankford and John Martin, of Atlanta, and Georgia's game commissioner, Charlie Elliott, bagged their limit of seven in short order Wednesday in the teeming duck country around this city.

John Martin's springer spaniel puppy had a field day retrieving the big mallards as they hit the water. Commissioner Elliott hunted at Duvall Point and reported a highly successful day.

Peach Bowl Tilt Tonight

By TOM MILLER

MACON, Dec. 12—Macon, getting the jump on 21 other assorted post-season gridiron spectacles, pries the lid off its Peach Bowl in Porter Stadium here Friday night with an 8 o'clock kick-off between Tennessee Wesleyan, of Athens, Tenn., and Georgia Military College, of Milledgeville.

Approximately 8,500 spectators are expected to be around to cheer the two teams, both traveling under the name of Bulldogs, although a threat of rain had Gardner Dickinson, Committee Chairman, worried. The weather bureau predicted its rain falling tonight, would cease by tomorrow afternoon.

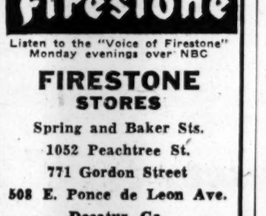

The two-year-old Peach Bowl in its inaugural game last year paired high school all-star teams from North and South Georgia, the latter winning, 7-0. Shorty Doyal coached the upstaters, while Tom Porter, of Lanier High, and Al Williams, then coach of Cairo, directed the winners.

Griffith Stadium Memorial Will Honor Walter Johnson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(UP)—Clark Griffith, President of the Washington baseball club, announced today that a Walter Johnson memorial will be built at Griffith Stadium here in honor of the former Washington pitching ace.

Griffith said a shrine of marble or granite will be built just inside the gates of the ball park. It will be about four feet high and of simple design.

Johnson died Tuesday night of a brain tumor. Funeral services for the "Big Train" will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the Washington Cathedral. Burial will be at near-by Rockfille Union Cemetery, where his wife is buried.

Griffith said a group of Johnson's former teammates and baseball associates will act as pallbearers. They include Ossie Bluege, manager of the Washington team; Joe Judge, Nick Altrock, Roger Peckinpaugh, Muddy Ruel, Jim Shaw and Mike Martin.

Rockmart Plays Cairo Tonight for State Title

By BERT PRATHER

ALBANY, Dec. 12—Rockmart's undefeated Yellow Jackets, winners of the North Georgia Football Association championship, and Coach Jeff West's SGFA champions, from Cairo High, will battle it out here Friday night for the State Class B gridiron title.

Although little in the way of comparison can be made between the two clubs since they did not meet a common foe, most everyone here expects the game to be a hard-fought battle.

Cairo's Syrupmakers dropped only one game in SGFA play, but more than evened the score for this loss by trimming their early season conquerors, Tifton High, by a top-heavy 40-to-0 score in a playoff tilt for the Conference crown last Friday night in Moultrie.

In fact the senior-manned Syrupmakers combine looked so good in this latter contest that many of their followers believe they will put an end to Rockmart's impressive victory string.

Cairo has a fine running attack, but against Tifton, the passing combination of Lewis Carr to End Lashley stole the show. This pair accounted for three of the six touchdowns. Robertson, White and Collins are other scoring threats on the Cairo squad.

Rockmart, coached by George Zivich, who like West is serving his first year as head coach, has a smooth-working backfield composed of Harvey Hooper, Alfred Hubbard, Gene McRae and W. L. Fowler. Hooper was the individual star of the Yellow Jackets' playoff game with Gainesville last Friday. He may be the man to watch in tomorrow night's game.

Probable lineups:

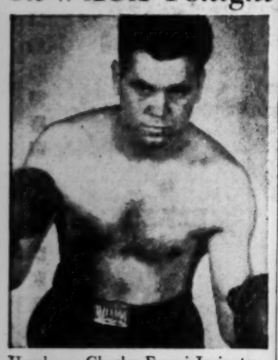

ROCKMART	Pos.	CAIRO
Moore	LE	Brookins
Shanks	LT	Mayfield
Shelley	LG	Hopkins
Paschal (C-C)	C	Hudson
Lane	RG	Tyson
Baldwin	RT	Green
Sorrells	RE	Drew
McRae	QB	Carr
Hooper (C-C)	LH	White
Hubbard	RH	(C) Robertson
Fowler	FB	Collins

Fast Welter "Go" on WAGA Tonight

Handsome Charley Fusari, Irvington, N. J., places his perfect ring record in jeopardy when he faces Charley "Chuck" Taylor (above) of Coalport, Pa., in a welterweight ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fusari boasts a string of 46 consecutive victories. Thirty-two of his victims have hit the resin dreaming of a white Christmas. In addition to being a superb boxer, he's a devastating hitter at short range and likes to shoot the works.

Like Fusari, Charley Taylor is a comparative newcomer to the front ranks of the welterweight class, but he has demonstrated that he possesses plenty of fistic know-how. Chuck combines speed and accuracy with a wide variety of effective punches.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WAGA (590 on your dial) at 10 p.m.

Georgia Five Wins, 55-32, Over Mocs

ATHENS, Dec. 12 — Georgia's Bulldogs piled up a big first-half advantage and coasted to a 55-to-32 win over Chattanooga here tonight in their first home appearance before a large crowd in Woodruff Hall.

Freshman Bobby Healey sank six field goals and added four foul shots for 16 points to take scoring honors for the Bulldogs. Center Al Fabian added 10 more.

The Georgians started fast and had piled up a 15-to-1 count before Ray Griffith gave the Mocs their first field goal. With Healey, Fabian and Morgan Harvil showing the way, the Bulldogs ran their margin to 30 to 4, with 7 minutes remaining in the first half, and Coach Ralph Jordan began substituting freely. Georgia led at intermission, 33 to 12.

The second half, both sides substituted freely.

The Bulldogs, who were playing without the services of regular Forward Gene Lorendo, showed a smooth-working first five, and capable substitutes in J. B. Farr, Bill Chandler, and several others.

It was Georgia's last game before Christmas. The Bulldogs, returnnig to action on Jan. 6, face Ole Miss in Oxford.

Wickhorst Quits As Cal. Coach

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 12—(AP) Head Coach Frank Wickhorst and the University of California came to a parting of the ways today, the ousted mentor announcing he had reached an agreement on final settlement of his contract.

The Associated Students' Executive Committee voted 7 to 1 yesterday to take up Wickhorst's contract, which had two and a half years to run and which reportedly involved about $24,000.

Wickhorst said the contract settlement, reached at a closed session with the committee and other officials, was "not satisfactory to me, but an agreement has been reached." He declined to discuss the settlement terms.

Harmon Picks Trippi On His All-American

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—(INS)—Tom Harmon, all-time All-American from the University of Michigan who this year doubled as a radio broadcaster and a player for the Los Angeles Rams, today placed three Notre Dame stars on his mythical All-American team for 1946:

Harmon's team:

Ends, Burr Baldwin, UCLA, and Len Ford, Michigan; tackles, Plato Andros, Oklahoma, and George Connor, Notre Dame; guards, Weldon Humble, Rice, and Fritz Barzilauskas, Yale; center, George Strohmeyer, Notre Dame; backs, Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame; Glenn Davis, Army; Arnold Tucker, Army, and Charlie Trippi, Georgia.

Meeks To Return

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 12—(AP)—Center Bryant (Junior) Meeks, of Macon, Ga., named on the Associated Press second All-America team this year, will return for a final year of football at the University of South Carolina next season, Coach Rex Enright said tonight.

7 NGIC Basketball Tilts Scheduled for Tonight

By RUSSELL MUSGRAVE

Seven important NGIC Conference basketball games and five non-conference affairs will provide followers of high school court games with plenty of thrills in all sections of Atlanta tonight.

College Park's Rams will invade Druid Hills in one of the feature tilts. The Rams easily defeated West Fulton, 47-29, in both teams' openers last Tuesday. The Druid Hills Red Devils lost their first two games to Hapeville and North Fulton before winning a 34-31 victory over the potent Commercial five Tuesday afternoon.

The sextettes from both schools will take the floor at 7:30 p. m. in a fray that finds Druid Hills trying for its fourth straight triumph in as many starts, while the College Park girls, with several non-conference wins behind them, will be out for their first conference victory.

The Marietta Blue Devils meet Decatur. Marietta, last year's NGIC championship girls' team, will have their hands full trying to stop Tom Morgan's Decatur six in the 7:30 p. m. preliminary game.

Fulton will be hosts to Hapeville Hornets at 7:30 p. m. with the Hornets playing their fourth game (two wins and one loss in the record book), while the Redbirds open their conference schedule. North Fulton will trek out to West Fulton for a 7:30 p. m. boys' tilt that offers little hope to the Owls' chances for entering the win column.

In non-conference games, Commercial plays at FitzHugh Lee, Canton is host to Tate, and GMA opens its 1947 season with Russell on the Wildcats' East Point court.

TONIGHT'S SCHEDULE
(All games start at 7:30 p. m.)

College Park at Druid Hills; Hapeville at Fulton; Marietta at Decatur; North Fulton at West Fulton (boys); GMA at Russell (boys); Tate at Canton; Commercial at FitzHugh Lee.

Peach State Trials Extended Half Day

By JACK TROY

MONROE, Dec. 12—There'll be "tally-ho" (the hunt's on) for an extra half a day, due to the record-breaking field of 201 beagles in the Peach State Beagle Club trials to be completed Friday over the grounds on the Jersey road.

Beagles from 18 states have competed for four days over the rabbit-infested acres near Walton County capital. There were 53 beagles entered in the 15-inch male championship and the running of this spectacular event will be concluded Friday morning.

The diminutive beagles have provided thriling sport for numerous sportsmen and their ladies who viewed the races from vantage points above the fields.

Blue Ash Patsy, classy little beagle owned by S. H. Vredenburgh, of Vredenburgh, Ala., and handled by Monroe's Donald Williamson, won the 15-inch female championship with a fine display of hunting ability, nose, speed, patience and mouthing.

In this class Issacs, Penny, owned by Everett Issacs, of Dearborn, Mich., and handled by B. R. Thurber, of Ingomar, Ohio, placed second. Third was Perry's Polly, owned by W. Paul Perry, of Durham, N. C. Beryl Bishop, of Snow Hill, N. C., was the handler. Paul's Ginger, owned by Paul Cleaton, of Monroe, was fourth. Reserve place hound was William's Black Beauty, owned by Earl Williams, of Huntington, W. Virginia.

There has been stirring competition as the most persistent beagles have trailed brer rabbit through the toughest briar thickets.

The 13-inch female class was won by a Georgia-owned beagle, Alabama Vickey, the pride of S. Charles Candler, of Madison. Candler handled Vickey in the winning performance.

Second, third, fourth and reserve places went to Breezy Ridges, Anchorage Frost, Amawalk Penny and Leichty's Miss Si. They are owned respectively by Huerl Strubble, of Dunellon, N. J.; Edwin C. Voss, of Huntington, L. I.; Marvin Watson, of Marshallville, N. C., and Harry Tewell, of Middletown, Ohio.

Harkendee Johnny, owned by Edwin B. Gill, of Salisbury, N. C., won the 13-inch male championship. Johnny triumphed in a second series in a field that originally included 63 hounds.

Park Ray Trademark, owned by Park E. Wallace, of Coatesville, Pa., and handled by Harvey Herb, of Wernersville, Pa., was second. Jack's Prince, owned by LeRoy Jackson, of Gray Court, S. C., and handled by Beyrl Bishop was third. Fourth place went to George's Bushmaster, owned by C. J. Burrows, of Meadville, Pa. B. R. Thurber was the handler. Reserve hound was Locust Lane Skipper, owned by Ed. D. Havens, of Asbury Park, N. J.

The Peach State Beagle Club's first AKC licensed test for dogs will come to a highly succesful conclusion this morning.

Red Birds Trade Fielder

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 12—(AP) The Columbus Red Birds of the American Association announced today a trade sending Infielder Tommy Nelson to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League in exchange for Catcher William Conroy and Infielder Charles Harrington.

Nelson, a second baseman, came to the Red Birds in the middle of last season after a year and a half with the Boston Braves. Conroy, a former Boston Red Sox catcher, and Harrington are both World War II veterans.

Mixed Bout Features Mat Card Tonight

Wrestler Al Massey goes back to his old profession of slinging the mitts tonight when he takes on Jim Coffield in a mixed bout at City Auditorium. Massey will wear six-ounce gloves for the 15 three-minute rounds. Coffield refuses to don the gloves and will wrestle Massey.

Eight other wrestlers will appear in four 20-minute bouts. Roy Welch and Carlos Rodiguez are paired in the opener at 8:30 p. m. Lozano Martinez battles Nick Carter, Bibber McCoy takes on Wally Greb and Don McIntyre tests a newcomer, George Thomas.

Wedemeyer Is All-Round Star for Gaels

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, Dec. 12—One of the most colorful figures ever to participate in intercollegiate football

That's "Squirmin' Herman" Wedemeyer, left halfback of the St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, who battle the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech in the Oil Bowl classic at Houston New Year's Day.

The idol of "Saturday's Millions" on the Pacific Coast, the Hawaiian Hurricane is one of the nation's most popular stars and, according to Grantland Rice, America's greatest athlete today.

Born of German-Hawaiian parents in Honolulu, Wedemeyer has five sisters and three brothers. He prepped at St. Louis in Honolulu, 1941-42 champions of the Hawaiian Islands.

Although he is best remembered for his gridiron gyrations, Wedemeyer is also a fine golfer and is the No. 1 man on the Gael golf squad, shooting in the 70s. He is an outstanding baseballer, who as center fielder of the Gaels batted .397 last Spring, and he's a good boxer, swimmer and basketeer.

On the gridiron, where his antics are best known, the Waikiki Wonder is a sensational long and short thrower, a deadly coffin corner kicker and a dynamic runner.

TWUA Starts Pay Negotiation

Ending a long series of wage conferences, the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will get down to the brass tacks of negotiating wage increases with Southern mill owners next week.

Letters notifying 13 Georgia mills with which the TWUA has contracts have been sent out from Union headquarters in New York, following by a few hours the signing of contracts calling for a 10 cents an hour increase in New England, Saturday and Sunday of last week, Emil Rieve, TWUA President, met here with 400 delegates of Southern TWUA locals and agreed on the 15-cent-an-hour demand.

War Offices Merged Under One Bureau

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—President Truman shook down the once vast bureaucracy which wielded war and reconversion powers into a temporary agency Thursday and said only the strikes kept him from junking the emergency powers entirely.

A small new agency was set up headed by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, an Army engineer often drafted for administrative jobs. It is officially called the Office of Temporary Controls, and inevitably will become known as the OTC.

Into it, for eventual liquidation, go the remaining powers and functions of the Office of Price Administration and the Civilian Production Administration.

James P. Davis, acting regional OPA administrator for eight Southeastern states, said yesterday the OPA will continue to function here as an operating division of the new Office of Temporary Controls.

The order also terminates immediately the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and the Office of Economic Stabilization, and marks the Wage Stabilization Board for liquidation Feb. 24.

The OWMR and the OES were separate agencies but both had been headed by Dr. John R. Steelman since Chester Bowles resigned as Stabilization Director last Spring during the OPA fight.

Steelman now is appointed assistant to the President and the chief function of the OWMR is transferred to him in that capacity. This is the authority to issue directives to other Federal agencies for the purpose of reconciling conflicts in programs and policies.

Other functions of the OWMR were disposed of as follows:

War contract settlement—to the Treasury.

Declassifying secret or confidential technical and industrial information and releasing it for general use—to the Commerce Department.

Arranging for press, radio and movie publicizing of Government programs and for exchange of information among the Government departments—to the Office of Government reports. The Government Information Service, which now performs some of these functions, was transferred to the OGR from the Budget Bureau.

Fleming, who has been Federal Works Administrator since 1941, will continue in that post while heading the OTC as well, but will draw only one salary of $12,000 a year.

Mr. Truman's statement explained that "the consolidation will result in economies in operation and in a more rapid liquidation of personnel, property, records, etc., which are no longer needed for current programs."

Sales Up 17 Percent

Atlanta department store sales continue to gain, a Federal Reserve Survey reveals. Atlanta sales for the week ending Dec. 7 showed an increase of 17 percent over the corresponding week last year, while sales for the nation showed an average 19 percent increase, the report said.

Coughing Spells Due to Colds?

Here's a Real Expectorant that Acts Fast to Ease Coughing Spells

Spend 45 cents at any drug store today for a bottle of BUCKLEY'S CANADIOL MIXTURE—triple acting—to relieve such coughing fast. HOME FURNISHINGS FOR MORE THAN HALF A CENTURY

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"Do you mind waiting for your friend some place else?"

FIVE OF ORIGINAL 'THIRTEEN CLUB' MARK 25TH YEAR AT POLICE STATION

On Friday the 13th, 25 years ago, 13 men donned the uniforms of Atlanta policemen for the first time.

Today, also Friday the 13th, five of these original 13 are still members of the Atlanta Police Department.

The date holds no terrors for them, they say.

Members of the "Thirteen Club" are Supt. E. I. Hilderbrand, Detective W. M. Holland, and Patrolmen S. I. Belcher, L. E. Brown and H. W. Wiggins.

Incidentally, Hilderbrand and Holland have only missed two days of work each in the past 25 years. Although all five policemen are now eligible for retirement, none plans to forsake the brass buttons immediately.

Free India Resolution Offered by Nehru

NEW DELHI, Dec. 12—(AP)—Pandi Jawaharlal Nehru, Hindu leader and First Minister in India's interim government, presented a resolution to the Constituent Assembly Thursday recommending that India be proclaimed an "independent sovereign republic."

Discussion was set for Friday on the resolution, which would provide for the drawing up of a constitution.

The territories would retain their autonomy and exercise all powers except those granted the union.

Prompt action is necessary in replying to the attractive offers in The Constitution Want Ads.

U. S. Correspondents Safe After Tour in Greece

ATHENS, Dec. 12—(AP)—The Ministry of Public Order said Thursday two American Correspondents—Robert Vermillion, of the United Press, and John Phillips, of Life and Time—who had been reported missing in central Greece for two weeks, left Trikkala early in the day for Larissa.

This confirmed an earlier report by the Trikkala correspondent of the Athens newspaper Embros, who said the two men had arrived safely there after contacting and interviewing guerrillas in the mountains.

Andrews Quits Dec. 31

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—President Truman accepted Thursday the resignation of M. Neil Andrews, United States Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, effective Dec. 31.

Political Storm Forces Rome Mayor to Quit

ROME, Dec. 12—(AP)—A political storm that threatened to spread to the national government burst upon Rome Thursday as a Christian - Democrat councilman elected Mayor of the Eternal City in a tumultuous session Wednesday night, was forced to resign when leftist fellow councilmen refused to participate in the city junta.

The short-lived Mayor, 52-year-old Salvatore Rebecchini, was elected when the pivotal Christian-Democrats threw their votes to the right, thereby defeating the leftist bloc of the people which had won the municipal election in November.

Search for Marines Ordered Over Glacier

SEATTLE, Dec. 12—(AP)—An air search of upper Nisqually Glacier on 14,408-foot Mount Rainier was called for Thursday in atttempts to find a Marine Corps transport plane missing two days with 32 men aboard, but Winter storms may delay such efforts for days.

Belief the San Diego-Seattle bound plane might have struck the mountain somewhere above the 8,000-foot level was expressed by Lt. Cmdr. R. M. Finley, a Coast Guard officer aiding in search efforts, after tracing what might have been its course from reports of rangers and others who heard a plane overhead Tuesday afternoon.

"We have traced its course right to Mount Rainier," Cmdr. Finley said. "We've just about decided it should be on Nisqually Glacier, somewhere above 8,000 feet."

John C. Preston, Superintendent of Mount Rainier National Park, said the plane would have been buried or covered with snow quickly if it struck the mountain, as 109 inches have already fallen this Winter at Paradise Valley. It has also snowed heavily at that elevation, with rain at lower levels.

The Army, meantime, also ordered a ground party out from McChord Field equipped with Winter gear and "weasels" for operation in the snow should the plane be found. The heavy weather again grounded search planes from McChord Field and the Sand Point Naval Air Station and the Coast Guard's small observation plane was at the Chehalis airport.

Finley and a few rangers went on up the mountain from Longmire to Paradise Valley to be available should the weather clear up.

The plane was one of six transporting a Marine contingent north from San Diego. One got through to Sand Point Station here but the others turned back and landed at Portland.

Park Superintendent Preston gave detailed information of hearing a plane overhead in a torrential rainstorm at about 4:15 p. m. (PST) Tuesday, shortly after the plane made its last radio position report to the Toledo Range Station, 40 miles southwest of Longmire.

The pilot had estimated he was about 30 miles south of the Toledo Station, 85 miles south of Seattle, and he was cleared to fly higher, due to icing conditions. persons on the ground reported later a plane was heard shortly after that time several miles south and east of Toledo, then near Randle, about 50 miles northeast, and then over Longmire, about 12 miles airline nearly due north of Randle.

One of two rangers at Paradise Valley, at a 5,500-foot elevation on the mountain's slopes and near Nisqually Glacier, also told of hearing the place. The glacier is widely known to thousands of visitors to hte park every year.

Dr., Mrs. Taylor Will Celebrate Wedding Date

Dr. and Mrs. William Simpson Taylor will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Sunday, Dec. 22, from 4 to 6 and 8 to 10 o'clock, at their home, 1040 Peachtree Battle Ave.

Mrs. Taylor is the former Miss Norwood Key, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Key, of Atlanta. Her wedding to Dr. Taylor, native of Philadelphia, took place Dec. 22, 1921, at the home of the bride's parents on West Peachtree Street, with the two fathers, Dr. Key and Dr. A. F. Taylor, of Philadelphia, officiating.

Receiving with the hosts will be Mrs. W. D. McCaig, of Wilmington, N. C., who was an attendant at their wedding. Mrs. Taylor will wear a costume of white illusion trimmed in sequins. Her flowers will be orchids.

The house will be decorated with flowers and the dining room table will be centered with a three-tiered cake. Silver candelbra, a silver punch bowl and coffee service will complete the arrangement. Serving will be Mesdames M. L. Brittain, Blake Van Leer, Murray Howard, Hinton Blackshear, H. A. Alexander, T. C. Kelley, Olin Cofer, S. Walter Kelly, J. L. Lorenz and J. F. Echols.

Others assisting will include Mesdames W. L. Wynn, Paul Turner, W. B. Richardson, Ralph Hefner, Phil Narmore, Wesley Spinning, R. R. Ingram, Harry H. Humbert, E. E. Bengston, T. F. Davenport, Misses Edda McEachin and Marion Norwood. Music will be presented by Miss Rosina Asmus, who played the wedding music during the ceremony 25 years ago. The guest book will be kept by Mesdames Charles Y. Ratterree and Samuel W. Norwood.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Hi Ho! College Belles, Beaux To Arrive for Christmas

From far and near Atlanta's college belles and beaux will come trouping home next week for the Christmas holidays, and you can be sure there will be big doings during the next few weeks, for this promises to be the most festive Yuletide in many a season!

Leading the parade will be the Wesleyan girls, who will start things off with a bang the morning of Dec. 18. Arriving from Macon will be Anne Ragan, Valeria McCullough, Septima Porcher, Janet Appleby, Sarah Curry, Peggy Porter, Mary Alice McDougall and Bettyjo Hogan. Jeanette Palmer arrives from Pine Manor on Dec. 19 to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmer.

Carroll McGaughey arrives Dec. 20 from the University of North Carolina, where he has been doing graduate work, and Carrick McGaughey gets in on Dec. 18 from the University of Tennessee to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll McGaughey, at their home near Dunwoody. Bruce Woodruff, Jr., arrives Dec. 20 from Washington and Lee University to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, on Habersham Road. Pete Clay, who attends Sullivan's Preparatory School, in Washington, D. C., arrives Dec. 21 to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ryburn Clay, on Cherokee Road, and Ben Moore will come from Charleston, where he attends the Citadel, to visit his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Hamm. George Montgomery arrives from Athens on Dec. 20 to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Montgomery.

Bobby and David Gambrell, Bob Strickland, Sam McDaniel, Jr., and Mack Hart are among the beaux arriving on Dec. 18 from Davidson College for the holidays with their families.

Dec. 21 is the date of arrival for the Sophie Newcomb girls, who include Mary Anne Patterson, Margot Bennett, Nancy McClarty, Mathilde Turner and Ruth Hoppe. After Christmas, Mary Anne will have as her guest Sybil Drake, of Menhin, La.

Martha Davis, Alice Dulaney, Jackie Jacobs, Peggy Sheffield, Connie Tunnell and Emily Pruitt, who are students at Sweet Briar, expect to be home on Dec. 21. Also arriving on the 21st will be the girls who attend Mt. Vernon Junior College, including Nancy Jagels, Mary Anne Robison, Eloise Rushton, Kate Lenhardt, Julia Brewer, Douglas Safjarrans and Grace Cox.

Arriving from Bradford Junior College on the 20th will be Betty Ferguson, Mary Garner, Betty Snelling and Ida Pennington. On the same day Bess Lundeen, Martha Mann, Irene Adair and Matilda Martin will be homeward bound from Marjorie Webster, and Ann DuPre and Elsie Martin from Pembroke, in Providence, Rhode Island.

On Dec. 18 the Randolph-Macon students will arrive home. They will include Sally Hall, Ann Weyman, Mary Pringle, Polly Paxton, June Rowan and Ann O'Sullivan, and coming from the University of Georgia on the 18th will be Julia Orme, Fritzi Yundt, Florence Griffin, Doris Tharp, Ann Osborne, Gini Hancock, Mildred Carpenter, Elizabeth Neal, Mary Jeannette Covey, Sara Ann Bankston and Louise Sharp.

Coming from Stephens College on Dec. 20 will be Nellie Felix, Betty Bethea, Betty Ann Boyet, Margene Branch, Ruth Carol Burch, Beverly Dobbs, Grace Holden and Julia House.

Martha Sibley, who attends Ashley Hall, in Charleston, will reach Atlanta some time this week, as will Aillene Minor, who attends Maryland College for Women. Anne Upshaw arrives by plane today from Wellesley, Mass., to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Upshaw, on Pace's Ferry Road. From Vassar, on Dec. 21, will come Mary Louise Hastings, Sally Pat Connally, Margaret Boyd and Sally Prescott. Caroline Evins, who attends Vanderbilt University, will spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Herman Evins, on Camden Road, and Margaret Ann Speas, who is a student at the University of North Carolina, will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Speas, on Argonne Drive.

SALVATION ARMY SALUTES THE ELDERS

Residents of the Rhodes Center section were a bit startled on Wednesday evening to hear the Salvation Army interrupt its program of religious hymns and play Lohengrin's Wedding March.

The Salvation Army Band and a group of singers had gathered in the neighborhood, it seems, to sing carols on the street to signify the approach of Christmas, while one of the members rang doorbells and solicited contributions for the Christmas fund. When the gentleman rang the bell and the door was opened at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Elder, he was surprised to see a profusion of flowers and an array of gifts in the living room.

"What's all this?" he queried without trying to conceal his surprise.

"My wife and I have just celebrated our golden wedding anniversary," Mr. Elder answered, as he dropped some silver in the Salvation Army tambourine.

"Why, congratulations!" said the gentleman. "We'll play something especially for you."

Then came the lilting strains of "Here Comes the Bride."

PASSING PARADE

Glimpsed here and there . . . Midge (Mrs. Baxter) Maddox, looking lovely in a coco brown with small black hat trimmed with gold flowers. . . . Jean (Mrs. Clyde) Williams, in a becoming black gown, featuring a black hat trimmed with gold leaves and carrying a purse of gold sequins. . . . Frances Massey smart in a bottle-green pin-striped suit with green hat. . . . Kappy Ellison chic in a pale blue dress with matching jacket trimmed in blue sequins. . . . Nora (Mrs. Richard) Hull, becomingly gowned in black, with a pink and blue feathered hat. . . . Anne (Mrs. Jack) Glenn attired in a black wool skirt with pale pink bodice embroidered in gold sequins. . . . Melissa (Mrs. Charles D., Jr.) Hurt, becomingly gowned in cyclamen-colored crepe, with off-the-face black hat. . . . Anne (Mrs. Julian) Carr looking smart in a powder-blue frock and matching feather hat. . . . Betty (Mrs. McKee) Nunnally wearing an attractive rolled-brim black hat, the brim embroidered in gold, white and turquoise beads and sequins. . . . Mary Anne Robinson, chic in a black ensemble, her small hat trimmed with a sweeping white plume, tipped in black. . . . Jean Lochridge resembling a fashion plate in a slim black crepe dress, the neckline and peplum edged

Public Service Body Sets Telephone Hearing

The State Public Service Commission has set Dec. 18 for a hearing at which the Southeastern Telephone Company, of Fitzgerald, will be asked to explain why it should not improve its service at McRae, Helena and Chauncey.

The order said the alternate may be a reduction in rates "commensurate with the character of service now being rendered."

DELHI MYSTERY

Nina's Mail Hints Fear, Foul Play

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—Dr. Leon Pistol, New York exporter, declared he suspected foul play in the death of former Czech Actress Nina Grosup, wealthy divorced wife of the aged Maharajah of Kapurthala.

Her battered body was found Monday at the base of a 238-foot ancient tower near Delhi, India. Delhi newspapers called it suicide.

Dr. Pistol, who was Miss Grosup's guardian in Vienna until she was 20, said he suspected foul play because the last letter he received from her, dated Nov. 3, contained this paragraph:

"Every day, when I go out with my dogs, somebody is asking me questions and follows me. I don't know what he wants."

Venezuela Seizes Last of Rebels

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Venezuelan Government announced Thursday the rounding up of the last rebels in Wednesday's sunrise revolt, ending the third attempt on President Ramon Betancourt's 14-month-old revolutionary regime.

The last Americans stranded at the major airbase of Maracay, 50 miles west of the capital, when the insurgents seized the airport by surprise, were brought to Caracas.

The capital returned to its usual calm after a day of anxiously watching the skies from which a rebel plane Wednesday dropped a bomb near a corner of the Presidential Palace and other places.

RICH'S

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Good Idea to Let Him Begin the Gift-Giving

This time last year you were going with Malcolm. He spent every minute of the holidays by your side . . . and crowded it with a Christmas present that thrilled you to the ears. But you aren't going with Malcolm this year. You're going with Mike. And you and Mike still have lots of questions to ask and answer. You just found each other this Fall. There are still lots of things you don't know about Mike.

Does he usually give his girl a Christmas present, for instance? You can't come right out and ask him exactly. And the only girl you know who would know was Mike's girl this time last year. You wouldn't ask her on a bet! Does Mike's family have a big celebration Christmas Day . . . and keep him locked up tight? Does he go dewey over Christmas . . . the way you do? Would he be willing to go along with you to church, for instance?

You're getting ready for Christmas already . . . and you want to include Mike in. But what to do? Wait and see? You'd much rather start planning right now.

LET HIM SET THE PACE

You'd hate like forty to get caught short without a gift for him. Particularly if he goes all out for you. And you'd hate to come through with just a little something . . . if he plunks down all of January's allowance in your behalf. And if you did the same by him . . . and he came over empty-handed, wouldn't you feel awful! And wouldn't it make him feel awful?

The easiest way to solve all this . . . is to let him start the gift-giving. If Mike is just one of the boys you go with . . . you don't need to deal out gifts. Particularly if he's never given you anything before. A gay card will take care of most of the boys you know.

If you like Mike enormously . . . you may be tempted to splurge big on him. But hold back. Particularly if you aren't too sure how he feels about you. Don't go lavish and overwhelm him and make him feel cheap and indebted.

If you just started going with Mike . . . and your friendship is still new and shaky . . . skip the gift this season . . . and make it up on his birthday . . . if you're still going together by that time.

But if you and Mike are pals of long standing. If you've weathered at least one other Christmas holiday together. If he always crashes through nobly. If you know him well enough to know well what he likes to do, and wear and have and play with. And if your ear to the ground finds out that a little something is coming your way from him with love . . . then get set to give him a present too.

But don't light on the first masculine-looking object you see and think it will be just the thing for Mike. If Mike's a very special person on your list . . . make whatever you give him something especially his.

Christmas Cheer Is Enhanced With Pretty Traditional Cakes

By SALLY SAVER.

Cakes are a part of the tradition of Christmas. Just like the story of the Baby in the manger, an Angel's song announcing His birth to the shepherds on the hill, "Silent Night" and Dickens' Christmas Carol are traditions, so are the cakes that are always ready for the important day. Fruit cake is, of course, first among the traditional cakes, because being full of fruits and nuts it stands as a symbol of richness stemming from the fact that Wise Men brought rich gifts to the Infant Christ-child. But coconut cake, glistening as white as the snow on the "White Christmas," is also a traditional Christmas cake.

We, as a nation, are noted for our ability and readiness to discard the old for the new. That is given as one reason for our phenomenal mechanical progress. But when it comes to Christmas, we cling to the old traditional rituals, customs and tried recipes. The Holiday Ribbon Cake, pictured, is new but the Coconut Cake, Japanese Fruit Cake, and the Date-Nut Cake are the ones we printed last year and the year before and the ones our readers keep requesting every year over and over. Most of them are worked out on a sugar-saving basis. Sugar in most cakes can be reduced to half, adding syrup in exact amount for the other half. Reduce liquid 4 tablespoons for each cup syrup substituted.

HOLIDAY RIBBON CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
3-4 teaspoon salt
1 1-4 cups sugar
1-2 cup shortening
2-3 cup milk if butter, margarine, or lard is used; 3-4 cup milk if vegetable or any other shortening is used
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon molasses
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
1-8 teaspoon cloves
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg

Sift flour once; measure into sifter with baking powder, salt and sugar. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients; add milk and mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes. Add eggs and vanilla and beat 1 minute longer. Line bottoms of two deep 8-inch layer pans with paper, then grease. Turn 1-2 of batter into one-layer pan. To remaining batter, add molasses and spices, mixing only enough to blend; turn into layer pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 minutes, or until done. Put together with white icing and decorate with holly wreath of cinnamon drops and citron.

Note: Mix cake by hand or at a low speed of electric mixer. Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow about 150 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and spoon often while mixing.

COCONUT CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar (half may be white corn syrup)
3 egg yolks, well beaten
1-3 cup milk (less 2 tablespoons if syrup is used)
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar gradually (and syrup if used) and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, then flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla, then fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased layer cake pans in moderate oven 375 degrees 25 to 30 minutes. Double the recipe for three 10-inch layers. When layers are cool put them together with Seven-Minute Frosting and while frosting is still soft sprinkle top and sides liberally with shredded coconut.

JAPANESE FRUIT CAKE

1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar (1 may be syrup)
3 cups flour
4 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk (less 4 tablespoons if syrup is used)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar and syrup (if used) and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift flour, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Add dry mixture alternately with milk, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Divide batter into two parts.

To one half add:

1 cup raisins (dredged in small amount of flour)
1 cup nut meats
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Bake two light and two dark layers and put together with the following filling:

1 cup sugar
1 cup syrup or honey
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup grated coconut
2 lemons

Mix sugar, syrup, or honey and corn starch. Add boiling water and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add coconut, grated rind and juice of lemons. Cool and spread between cool layers. The whole cake may be covered with white frosting if desired.

DATE-NUT CAKE

1 1-2 cups sifted flour
1-4 pound butter or margarine
1 1-4 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 small boxes pitted dates
3 slices candied pineapple
3-4 pound candied cherries
1 1-2 cups sugar
5 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
Juice of 1 large lemon
2 cups pecan meats
2 cups English walnuts

Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg yolks, then flour which has been sifted with salt and baking powder. Add vanilla and lemon juice. Dredge nuts and fruits with a little of the flour reserved for this, and add to cake mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites. Line funnel cake pan with brown paper and then grease again, pour in cake mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about one hour.

Waist Measure Depends on Individual Build

By IDA JEAN KAIN

There are measurement charts that figure to the last notch the perfect waist circumference for a given height. Such charts are fine in theory, but in real figures they are apt to be inches off. There is no standard waist measure for a set height. True, a slight-framed girl of about 5 feet would have a neat, sweet waist at 24 inches. But it would be reaching for the moon for a stocky girl to try to get her waist thinned down to 24 inches.

The wrist is a gauge of structure and is used as a guide for streamlined proportions. By this rule-of-the-wrist, the girl with a small wrist, 5 3-4 inches, should have an elegantly slim waist of 24 1-2 inches; the average 6-inch wrist allows for a 26-inch waistline, and a 6 1-2-inch wrist for a 27 1-2-inch waistline. By this rule the waist should measure a bit more than four and a fourth times the wrist size.

Again it's fine in theory. But with all these careful calculations something has been overlooked, and that is the space between the waist and the top of the hipbone. Short-waisted women are not built for very slender waistlines. You are short-waisted if there is barely a couple of inches between the top of the hipbone and the natural line of the waist.

The only solution for those of us who are in that fix is to pull the waist out of the hips and make a practice of standing and sitting that way. In other words, perfect posture with the up-pull through the midriff. We can also do our waist a good turn with exercises that ward off waistline bulk. It's easy to see that the less space, the more the bulk shows up. Here are exercises that pull the waist out of the dumps:

Position: Sit with legs wide apart, arms arched overhead, hands together. Keep your back perfectly straight, and pull up slim through the midriff.

Action: Bend the upper part of the body sideward, holding the up-and-in-stretch, then come up to sitting position. Now bend forward girdle muscles taut and come back to sitting posture. Then bend toward the other side. With arms arched overhead, the shoulders stay relaxed, and the up-stretch is centered in the middle of the figure.

BACKSTAGE
By Paul Jones

Mark Hellinger leads off as a producer of pictures with one of the most spellbinding, high-tension, forthright melodramas we've had the pleasure of watching in a long, long time in "The Killer," which opened at the Fox Theater yesterday.

"The Killer" is not likely to break any box-office records its first two days at the Fox, but look out after that. There are no "name" actors in the cast and "nameless" casts don't usually draw too well. But the boys and girls Hellinger has chosen to bring this pulsating Ernest Hemmingway yarn to the screen troupe like a bunch of Broadway veterans. They're terrific.

The movie portrays crime in its most sordid atmosphere. It is a heavy dose, but I dare anyone who goes to see it to take their eyes off the screen for a minute. The picture requires concentration because the story of an unsolved crime which leads to a gang killing is pieced together in such little pieces that one distraction can cause you to lose the whole essence of the entire play.

Hellinger employs one of the most unusual flash-back techniques and some of the most interesting camera trickery I've ever seen. The dark shadows, the moody music and the two-fisted gangland characters embellish the play, too.

Burt Lancaster, a new face on the screen, hands in a remarkable portrayal of the central figure in the crime plot, a guy named simply, "The Swede."

In the "socko" cast, too, are Ava Gardner who sinks her teeth into her first real part; Edmund O'Brien, who underplays his grand part, and Albert Dekker, who shows that his many years as a bad man in the horse operas were misspent, and Sam Levine.

Another Melodrama

But for an overly-sentimental ending and a too glamourous picture of criminals at work, "Nobody Lives Forever," which came to the Paramount yesterday, is a fast-moving gang story which holds interest very well.

The story is about an ex-GI who rejoins his gang after his discharge. He becomes enmeshed in a plot to defraud a wealthy widow of a fortune, then decides to go straight and break up the criminal plot. Well scripted and capably directed with a good musical score, the play moves swiftly until the schmaltzy ending.

John Garfield and Geraldine Fitzgerald head the cast and act convincingly, but the plum in the pie is left to veteran Walter Brennan.

Plan Housing Forum At Auditorium Today

A group of Atlanta real estate men, home builders, building supply dealers and home loan association representatives will sponsor a public forum on housing at 2 p. m. today in Taft Hall at the Municipal Auditorium.

Moderator of the forum will be George West, chairman of the Construction and Civic Development Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Speakers will include Charles H. Girardeau, President of the Lumber and Supply Dealers' Council; L. J. Boggs, Vice President of the National Home Builders' Association; J. W. Battle, President of the Atlanta League of Savings, Building and Loan Associations, and Edwin T. Stout, Chairman of the Housing Committee of the Atlanta Real Estate Board.

Deutsch Has Praise For State Hosiptal

Welfare Director A. J. Hartley was back in his office here yesterday glowing over the favorable report made on Milledgeville State Hospital by Albert Deutsch, mental care authority, who inspected the Institution with Hartley.

Deutsch, author and writer for the New York newspaper PM, said he found some of the finest buildings he had ever seen on any of his inspection trips of mental institutions. He also reported some were in the worst condition of any in the country.

Hartley accepted both the praise and the criticism, admitting some of the buildings at Milledgeville were in bad condition.

Public Official Pension Plan Asked by Municipal Group

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

Delegates to the 13th annual meeting of the Georgia Municipal Association late yesterday adopted a resolution directing its Legislative Committee to urge upon the General Assembly the enactment of a State-wide pension and retirement system for public officials, county and municipal.

More than 100 delegates representing about 50 municipalities participated in the meeting at the Ansley Hotel.

Passage of the resolution came after the delegates agreed that cities and counties lacked the financial resources to institute a sound retirement plan. They agreed there should be a state-wide system.

The delegates passed three other resolutions: (1) a recommendation that the State abolish its ad valorem tax and thus return that form of taxation to counties and municipalities; (2) a resolution opposing labor union organization for municipal employes; and (3) a recommendation that the State Legislature devise and put into operation better methods for the distribution of the State's income among cities and counties.

At the suggestion of Mayor Hartsfield, of Atlanta, who spoke during the day, the meeting took no action in reference to revision of the fire codes. The Mayor urged that this matter was one for the engineers and the fire experts, and the association agreed with him. Harry Phillips, Atlanta Fire Marshal, indorsed the Mayor's attitude and warned the delegates: "There is no such thing as a fireproof building. The hazard to life is always present where large numbers of people congregate."

Mrs. Mamie Taylor, of Atlanta, representing the Federation of Women's Clubs, urged the delegates to co-operate in the proposed movement for greater traffic safety.

The delegates elected W. C. Henson, of Cartersville, as the new President to succeed C. Q. Wright, City Manager, of Albany, and Mayor Ed L. Almand, Jr., of Monroe, as Vice President to succeed Henson. They also re-elected Zack Arnold, of Atlanta, as Secretary, and B. Graham West, of Atlanta, as Treasurer.

At the annual dinner last night Mayor Hartsfield acted as toastmaster.

Rezoning Needed For Farm Market

The farmers' market, maintained for years by Sears, Roebuck & Company, may be moved to Decatur unless rezoning of a five acre tract west of Glen Iris is authorized. Members of the Fifth Ward delegation in City Council have asked the City Planning Commission to reverse an adverse recommendation on the rezoning effort.

WINDERITE SHORN OF HAIR, HEARING

City police have placed an official lookout for "the meanest thief in town."

The lookout was placed after J. R. Austin, of Winder, reported someone took his mechanical hearing aid while he was getting a haircut in a downtown barber shop. Austin said he had removed the hearing aid, valued at $40, and placed it on a shelf near the barber chair.

RANG OWN DOOM

Bandits Lose $61,230 To Bank Alarm

DETROIT, Dec. 12—(AP)—Two gunmen, who scooped up $61,230 in an attempted holdup at a downtown bank Thursday, were nabbed within two minutes as the bank manager tricked them into sounding the burglar alarm.

The pair was captured at gunpoint by police as they tried to flee out the rear door of the bank, loaded down with money bags and a cardboard box full of currency.

Nine employees and two customers were in the Michigan Avenue branch of the Detroit bank when the two men, posing as customers, entered in mid-morning.

Suddenly, they whipped out revolvers and forced Robert Burns, the bank manager, and the other 10 persons into a corner near the vault.

They ordered Burns to open the vault cage door, which was locked, but he said he was unable to do it alone and asked one of the bandits to help. The unsuspecting gunman, acting on Burns' direction, pushed a button as the manager turned the vault handle. It was the burglar alarm.

As the bandits herded the 11 into the vault and crammed money into the cardboard box, police cars rushed to the scene.

Two officers arrived at the rear of the bank just as the loot-laden bandits started out. The latter surrendered without a fight.

Police identified them as Andrew Firth, 28, and his cousin; Richard Firth, 27, both Detroiters and charged them with robbery armed.

YULE SPIRIT—OH YEAH . . . ?

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 12. (AP)—The Christmas card received by State's Atty. John W. Curren wasn't as much of a holiday message as he thought.

The card was postmarked from the State Penitentiary and bore the legend "Having a very dull time. Wish you were here." It was signed by a man who can thank the prosecutor for his 10-year lease on his quarters there.

Mrs. Charles LeCraw, 85, Ex-Mayor's Mother, Dies

Mrs. Charles V. LeCraw, mother of former Mayor Roy LeCraw, and of J. Walter LeCraw, prominent Atlanta attorney, died last night in a private sanitorium following an illness of six weeks.

Funeral plans will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. LeCraw, who was 85 years old, had taken an active part in affairs of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church, which she joined shortly after coming to Atlanta in 1900, and also in the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she had been a member for many years.

She was a native of Columbus, Miss., and was widely known as a talented pianist, often playing concerts at DAR affairs. Despite her advanced age, Mrs. LeCraw had kept up her music until stricken ill.

She is survived by three other sons, Charles S., Ralph V. and Arthur E. LeCraw, and two daughters, Miss Daisy LeCraw, and Mrs. H. A. Lubs of Wilmington, Del. She is also survived by 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Since the death of her husband several years ago, Mrs. LeCraw had resided at 826 Peachtree street, N. E., having disposed of the old family home on West Peachtree street.

Amputee Passes Life-Saving Test

Jeanne Lawrence, whose left leg was amputated above the knee two years ago, made history for the Atlanta Chapter, American Red Cross, last night at the YWCA pool by passing the senior Red Cross life-saving test in the class directed by Jessie McCorvey and Ed Wellons.

A native of St. Petersburg, Fla., Miss Lawrence came to Atlanta a year ago to be fitted for an artificial leg. She secured employment with the company that sold her the new leg. Meanwhile, she decided not to allow her loss to become a handicap and resumed swimming and diving—two former hobbies.

Two others who pased the tests out of eight persons who started the course were Arthur Young, field executive in Atlanta Boy Scout headquarters, and Parker Lowell of the Constitution news staff.

Miss Campbell Succumbs at 101; New Jersey Rites

Miss Harriet Kip Campbell, probably Atlanta's oldest resident, died yesterday afternoon at the age of 101 at her residence, 2021 Mt. Paran Rd., N. W. She was the sister of the late Italian Princess Jane di San Faustino.

Funeral services and burial will be in Springfield, N. J., either Sunday or Monday.

Miss Campbell was born in Bellville, N. J., on Sept. 10, 1845, the daughter of George Washington Campbell and Elizia Day Campbell. She attended Miss Green's School, a pre-War Between the States finishing school, in New York.

She came to live with a niece in Atlanta eight years ago. She was a member of the Colonial Dames and of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in New York City.

Survivors include a niece, Mrs. T. C. Erwin, of Atlanta, and a nephew, Prince Ranieri Di San Faustino, of Rome, Italy.

Ernest E. Polk Succumbs at 65

Ernest Eugene Polk, 65, retired building contractor, died yesterday morning at his residence, 334 Brooks Ave., N. E., after an illness of two months.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today at ePachtree Chapel, with the Rev. C. J. Buice officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Born in Covington, Mr. Polk had resided in Atlanta for 25 years and was a member of the Baptist Church.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. C. B. Duke, of Norcross; Mrs. J. M. Perkerson and Miss Christine Polk, of Atlanta; three sons, J. F., H. C. and Herbert Polk, of Atlanta, and two grandchildren.

Other survivors are six sisters, Mrs. C. D. Smith, of Lithonia; Mrs. Herbert McElhenney, of Monticello; Mrs. Ellis Tyler and Mrs. Bill Moseley, of Milledgeville; Mrs. Bowen Johnson, of McIntyre, and Mrs. Ed Jump, of Milan; and four brothers, R. N. Polk, of Vidalia; B. C. Polk, of Monticello; J. B. Polk, of Milledgeville, and G. C. Polk, of Macon.

3-Month-Old Smothered Under Crib Blankets

Three-month-old Thomas Anthony McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McGinnis, of 865 Hall St., N. W., was smothered yesterday under the blankets in his crib, Lt. E. W. Wilson and Patrolman R. E. Gulley, of the Fulton County police, reported.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Center Hill Methodist Church, with the Rev. C. H. Cochran officiating. Burial will be in West View Cemetery.

Dress Up Simple Meats for Company

Guests for dinner and the food budget already cracked? If that's your problem, solve it by buying ground meat and making the meat loaf shown in party dress below. It's extra-tasty and eye-appealing . . . bound to make a hit at any table.

MEAT LOAF RING

Combine 4 cups day-old bread crumbs (loosely packed)
1 cup milk, and let stand while preparing remaining ingredients.

Add 3 tsp. B-V dissolved in
¼ cup hot water
1 Clear Brook Egg, beaten slightly
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
3 tbsp. onion, chopped fine
2 lbs. ground meat (1 lb. beef, ½ lb. each of pork and veal preferred)

Mix thoroughly and pour into greased ring mold or loaf pan. Place upside-down in a shallow baking pan and bake at 325° F. for 20 minutes. Remove mold and continue baking at 350° F. for 30 minutes. Serves 10.

Where There's a Will There's a Way

If you don't have a ring mold, don't let that stop you . . . make one by putting an oiled jelly glass in the center of a casserole and fill the meat mixture in around it. Then when you're ready to unmold the ring, remove the jelly glass and turn the contents of the casserole out on a serving plate.

Let the meat loaf share the oven with baked potatoes . . . and custard for tomorrow. Creamed peas, grated carrot salad, hot rolls, and apple crisp with hard sauce will complete a tempting meal. You may use either Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter in making the hard sauce.

Tuck carrot flowers in beds of parsley around the meat loaf ring to add that final touch. Make the flowers (in the morning so they'll be crisp) by shaving lengthwise strips from large carrots. Wait until the strips become limp; then roll them into funnel shapes and fasten with toothpicks; chill in ice water.

A Quick Trick

Unexpected supper guests won't catch you empty handed if you keep your cupboard well stocked with Certified Corned Beef Hash. Slice or crumble it, brown in Advance Shortening and serve with zesty chili sauce.

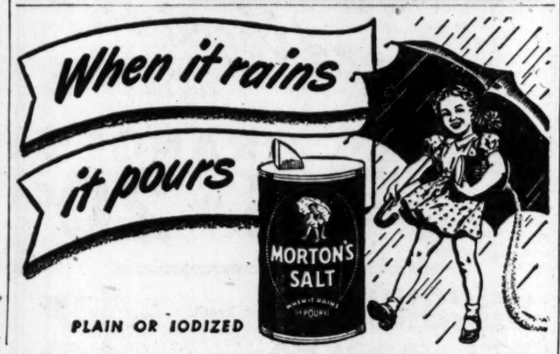

Cordially,
George Rector

NEW YORK, Dec. 13th—If you're a "recipe collector" you'll be interested in this. Way back in 2800 B.C. a cook book called "Hon Zo" was compiled by Emperor Shennung. By following his suggestions, the Chinese have enjoyed some of the world's finest, most delightfully flavored dishes ever since. Soups were the "mainstays" of their cuisine, but in those days soups were much more than food. They were medicines as well. Instead of prescribing pills, Chinese doctors added healing properties to savory nourishing bowls of soup.

Send for this FREE Recipe Booklet and fill every cookie jar and cake-cannister in the house with good things to eat around Christmas time WITHOUT using too much hard-to-get sugar. For instance, take this Cup Cake recipe, copied from the book . . .

RAISIN CUP CAKES

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1 tbs. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup Sun-Maid Raisins
2-3 cup milk
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. lemon extract

Sift together first 3 ingredients. Slice or chop raisins. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add egg and lemon extract. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing thoroughly. Stir in raisins. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Frost if desired. Yields 12 medium-sized cup cakes.

Here's the name of the book . . . "Downright Delicious SUN-MAID Raisin Recipes." To get it, just jot this name down on a postal card and address to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., (Dept. 14) New York 16, N. Y.

Since BISQUICK is BACK to make the crust . . . try this quick-to-make, delicious-to-eat meat pie the very first time you have the meat and vegetables to provide the filling:

HOT MEAT PIE WITH CARROT-PARSLEY TOPPING

½ cup grated raw carrot
2 tbsp. finely minced parsley
2 cups BISQUICK
½ to ⅔ cup milk

Add carrots and parsley to the BISQUICK. Stir in milk. Cut with doughnut cutter and place on top of hot meat pie filing. Bake as directed for meat pie on the BISQUICK package.

And in case you've forgotten, or haven't heard . . . BISQUICK is a basic biscuit mix, made of 6 fine tested ingredients, that makes baking snap-easy, and gives results that are excellent, time after time! Ask your Grocer!

If you could buy TANGERINES every day for the rest of your life, wouldn't urge you so strongly to buy them NOW, by the bagful! But in three months at the outside, TANGERINES will be gone! So for good health and for good eating's sake, follow these tips on TANGERINES.

1. Use them in salads, desserts generously.
2. Keep a bowlful "filled to the brim" within easy reach.
3. Pack them into lunch boxes for grown-ups and children. Not just one, but TWO . . . one for FUN, and one for HEALTH!
4. Tuck into Christmas baskets and packages you're sending away.

TANGERINES are sunshine, captured and rolled into small, delicious balls, and know why they're my favorite fruit? They're such FUN to eat. Their skins "zip" off, and each segment inside makes just one sweet, juicy "bite." Remember that bagful tomorrow, and ask for a can of TANGERINE JUICE, too. It's new, different and delicious!

If any member of your family is getting out of bed "on the wrong side" . . . coming to breakfast grouchy and disinterested in food, the cause may well be breakfast itself. But try tempting anyone with this delicious treat—it's a challenge to the appetite . . . a breakfast boost to good humor.

NABISCO 100% BRAN WITH APPLESAUCE (Nabisco 100% Bran, Brown Sugar, Applesauce, and Top Milk)

Serve it and watch how disgruntled dispositions perk right up — for flavor-rich NABISCO 100% BRAN is doubly good! It's savory and satisfying any way you serve it. It also helps promote "healthy regularity" — and, because it's finer-milled, it's gentler, milder-acting. Try NABISCO 100% BRAN for fine-grained, feather-light muffins, too!

When food at home and in restaurants seems to taste "drowned-out" and all of a "sameness,"—here's the probable reason why. It's not that the meat or vegetables had no flavor to begin with . . . not the way they've been cooked,—but invariably the fault lies in the way they've been seasoned! Food Flavors are easily submerged, and help's needed to bring them back to the surface. That's why CAREY'S Salt is the BEST "life-saver" of flavors you can buy! It's so extra-refined it easily goes down into every morsel of food, and comes floating back . . . bringing full, natural flavor right to the top for you to enjoy. It never clogs the shaker and, of course, there are TWO kinds . . . iodized or plain. Ask for CAREY'S in the round white package with the bright red band!

Perfect Xmas Gift!

If you're at a loss to know what gift to give the invalid next door, or a child who seems lonely . . . there's a perfect one I'd like to suggest. A gay, beautiful companion . . . a singing canary! A canary will be a welcome gift in any home for its song is so thrilling, its personality so gay, that everyone in the house will fall under its happy spell. And canaries are surprisingly easy to take care of. When you give yours, make it clear that FRENCH'S Bird Seed and Biscuit—containing the "tested twelve" ingredients—is a tried and PROVED diet for keeping a canary in health and song.

I've never fancied hot-tamale dishes from down Mexico-way,—but I DO know that Chili Con Carne, the way HORMEL makes it in those flavor-sealed cans, is totally and deliciously DIFFERENT! Everybody like it . . . rich chunks of meat and fat red beans, blended together in a sauce that's spicelively enough to tempt the palate without leaving a burning sensation. It's just the dish to serve on the spur of the moment these pre-Christmas days when time for meal planning and preparation is limited. TRY it, and if you think I'm wrong,—drop a line to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, N. Y., and I'll see that TWICE your money is refunded.

A Range for Xmas!

Even a "plain" cook could turn out meals like a chef on one of those new FRIGIDAIRE Electric Ranges! So if YOUR name's down on Santa's list for a new range for Christmas, stop in at your Frigidaire dealer's tomorrow and feast your eyes on a FRIGIDIARE! It has so many important features, I can only list a certain few that mean ease, speed and perfection in cooking for you. Quick-heating Radiantube units give definite heat speeds for each kind of surface cooking . . . the oven's HUGE . . . the broiler waist-high, and a Cook-Master clock control turns heat on and off automatically. I'll wish WITH you that you'll have yours in time to cook the Christmas turkey, but if waiting a few weeks means at long last you'll OWN a FRIGIDAIRE Range . . . WAIT . . . by all means! Made by the Frigidaire Division of General Motors.

Perhaps it hasn't occurred to you to give VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA for Christmas,—but to my mind, it's a grand idea! Anyone, anywhere will be pleased to receive VAN HOUTEN'S as a gift, since it can be used in so many different, delicious ways. It adds rich, full-bodied chocolate flavor to all recipes calling for chocolate, and makes hot, nourishing drinks everyone needs and enjoys in cold weather. And, besides, there's a Recipe Booklet tagged to each can that contributes a nice Christmasy touch. Make up your list before shopping, so you know how many cans to buy, and, remember, in your own home you'll need VAN HOUTEN'S for Christmas too!

Knox turns the trick!

Did you know that combining left-over meat or chicken broth with KNOX Unflavored Gelatine in an aspic is an excellent way to use up left-over meats and vegetables? The broth adds an extra-richness, and by using this "perfect" gelatine, you retain the real, natural flavor of everything you add to the aspic. Result: A dish that's elegant enough both in flavor and form to serve for "company" dinners! And there are other reasons why I advise your using KNOX in making desserts, salads and aspics. It's so versatile in preparing nutritious dishes! KNOX, being pure, unflavored and a good supplementary protein, is truly an excellent food to keep on hand. Ask for it, and use OFTEN!

Here's a good way to please a man when he sits down at the table. Serve him a huge steaming bowlful of green split pea soup. But hold on . . . I'm not suggesting you spend hours in the kitchen making it by old-fashioned methods. Make it this EASY way! Just get a package of BETTY CROCKER Pea Soup Ingredients at your Grocer's Open . . . empty the contents into boiling water and cook . . . FIVE minutes! The same fragrance and "made-right-at-home," simmered-in flavor come right from that package—along with choice green split peas. So instead of serving his favorite soup once in a blue moon . . . serve it as often as he has a craving for it! Get 3 packages in one shopping!

Churches To Herald Yuletide In Song and Story on Sunday

Atlanta churches this Sunday will present the first of a series of special Christmas programs, featuring everything from "The Messiah" to "Jingle Bells."

In College Park all of the choirs and singers of the College Park churches will join together in a mammoth Christmas music program to be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the College Park City Auditorium. The combined choirs and organists have planned a varied program of Christmas carols and a Christmas cantata.

Other Atlanta churches are planning Christmas musical programs at the beginning of the Yuletide season.

The First Presbyterian Church will give its annual presentation on Handel's "The Messiah" at 5 p. m. Sunday at the Church with Dr. Charles Sheldon directing. Soloists will be Miss Barbara Nunn, Mrs. E. Corswell, James Dickson and John Drewey.

In a candlelight service at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, the West End Presbyterian will present a Christmas cantata at the Church. The Christmas portion of "The Messiah" will be sung by the Church Choir, assisted by the Junior Choir.

The West End Presbyterian Church Choir will present a Christmas cantata at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Church. In a special candlelight Christmas service the North Avenue Presbyterian Church will present special singing by the choir and the congregation at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Church.

Another candlelight service will be held at 5 p. m. at the Emory Presbyterian Church, and the regular Church Choir, assisted by the Junior Choir of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, will present the Christmas portion of "The Messiah" at 5 p. m. at the Church.

Other Sunday music programs include a Christmas program by the Boys' Choir of the Decatur Christian Church at 7:30 p. m.; at the Capitol View Methodist Church; a musical program by the Georgia Baptist Children's Home at 7:30 p. m. at the Grant Park Baptist Church; special Christmas music by the choir and congregation of the Druid Hills Baptist Church at 7:30 p. m.; a cantata, "The Music of Christmas," at 8 p. m. at the Capitol Avenue Baptist Church; a cantata, Edward Norman's "Christmas Bells," by the choir of the St. Paul Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m.; "Chimes of the Holy Night," a Christmas cantata, by the choir of the Oakland City Methodist Church; a cantata, "Gloria in Excelsis," by the choir of the Cascade Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m., and a 11 a. m. cantata, "Bethlehem," by the Church Choir, at Trinity Methodist Church.

The Rev. Warren M. Marshall, Jr., Pastor of the Oakland City Baptist Church, will preach on "The Song of the Saved at 11 a. m. Sunday at the church. The subject of the 7:30 a. m. address will be "On Life's Highway."

"The Incarnation in You" will be the subject of the Sunday morning sermon by Dr. Robert W. Burns at the Peachtree Christian Church, and at 5 p. m. there will be a special program of Christmas music.

The TEL Class of the Edgewood Baptist Church will hold a Christmas party at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Church and the Sunday School of the First Associated Reformed Presbyterian Church will have a Christmas party at 7:30 p. m. next Friday at the Church, while the Mary Kennedy Circle of the Church will give a party at 8 p. m. Monday at 1045 Hudson Dr., N. E.

Lebanon Prelate To Celebrate Mass in City

The Most Rev. Joseph Maloof, D. D., Archbishop of Baablec, Lebanon, will celebrate mass at 9:30 a. m. Sunday at the Immaculate Conception Church.

A member of a distinguished Catholic hierarchy in the Near East, Archbishop Maloof is in this country to visit communicants of the Melchite Rite of the Roman Catholic Church.

While in Atlanta he will be honored by local members of the Melchite Rite with a dinner and a reception. He will come to Atlanta from Birmingham.

George Hooks Hurt As Pistol Discharges

George B. Hooks, 38, of 1008 Hampton St., N. W., was admitted to Grady Hospital yesterday for treatment of a bullet wound in his left side.

Hooks told Radio Patrolmen J. E. Ratledge and G. D. Shorall that a .45-caliber automatic pistol discharged as he was attempting to put the pistol in his belt. The accident occurred at the rear of 1200 Howell Mill Rd., N. W., police said.

NEW YORK RANGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 — (AP) — Cotton futures turned weak in late dealings today as a flurry of hedge selling and liquidation met only scale down trade support. Final prices were approximately at the lows for the day to show losses of 50 cents to $1.85 a bale from the previous close except December, 1946, delivery which was up $1.10 a bale. Easiness in securities, increased year - end hedging operations, and a tendency to take profits with cotton around 32 cents a pound contributed to the reactionary trend. Mills were good buyers against textile orders in early dealings. There was also covering by shippers against export sales to Czechoslovakia and other countries. Scarcity of the December, 1946, contracts which expire at noon, Friday, accounted for strength in that month.

POULTRY, BUTTER, EGGS

ATLANTA

Eggs: Market steady to firm on fresh eggs but easy to weak on storage. Prices paid FOB Atlanta for fresh eggs held unchanged but greater consideration being asked for Midwestern eggs due to arrivale at later date. Values received for storage eggs varied widely as to quality. Prices FOB Atlanta (Midwestern eggs) wholesale grade 1 and 2 large extras 51-54, mostly 51½-53, current receipts 45-46, storage large extras 35-39c.

Live poultry: Market steady. Supplies of poultry were generally ample for the fair demand. Prices paid for live fryers tended lower as farm prices moved downward. Bulk of dressed and drawn fryers were selling to retailers and restaurants at from 60-62c with some sales both above and below this range. Prices FOB Atlanta for live poultry were as follows: fryers 38-39, heavy type fowl 28-30, light type fowl 22-26; old roosters 18-22c.

NORTH GEORGIA

USDA—Market easy to weak. Prices paid producers for fryers averaged lower. Supplies were of light volume but generally equal to demand. Prices paid farmers for fryers sold Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning ranged mostly from 35-36c with a few sales down to 33-33½ cents. Dressed market lacked real strength and buyers extremely price conscious. Bulk of turkeys produced in the North Georgia market moved before the Thanksgiving holidays and sales too few to list prices.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—(USDA) Live poultry steady; receipts 21 trucks, no cars; prices on chickens unchanged; FOB wholesale market; ducklings 25; heavy young ducks 28; light farm ducks 23.

Butter weak: Receipts 248,004; 93 score AA and 92 A 81.5; 90 B 80.5; 89 C 79.5.

Eggs steady and prices unchanged; receipts 13,013.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—The stock market dropped today in the first decisive setback of the week.

Losses ranged from fractions to around 4 points. Hardest hit were steel, motor and rail shares.

A handful of issues clung to modest gains, scored during morning irregularity, but the bulk of the market finished at or only a shade above the lowest levels of the day.

Turnover, never very active, amounted to 1,060,000 shares, compared with Wednesday's 1,230,000.

Profit cashing apparent throughout the week after Monday's smart advance, again chopped away at the price level. Year-end tax selling, while not so pronounced as in recent weeks, was an added weight on the market.

Top billing in the news, however, was given to impending wage discussions affecting several heavy industries, including steel and automobile firms. Concern over the possibility of demands for substantial wage boosts acted as a stimulant to selling as well as a check to demand.

Downward tendencies among rail issues gained momentum as trading progressed in the bond market today. At the start of the final hour most carriers showed losses ranging to more than a point. A few clung to morning gains. A decline in share prices seemed to influence pressure against bonds. Profit-taking on the heels of the brisk rally last Monday also chipped away at prices.

In the curb losses were posted for Aluminum Company, American Potash, Kaiser-Frazer, Textron, Cities Service and Creole Petroleum, volume of 360,000 compared with 350,000 yesterday.

COME IN, SOUTH CAROLINA

Thorium May Yield New Atomic Fuel

By THOMAS R. HENRY,
Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance.

WASHINGTON—Experiments are in progress with a third kind of atomic fuel—uranium 233.

It is an explosive isotope of uranium which is made out of the rare element thorium by bombarding its atoms with neutrons in an atomic pile, such as is maintained at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash.

Thorium—the metal of Thor, the thunderer of Scandinavian mythology—is, like uranium, a a naturally radioactive element. Some of the largest deposits in the world are in South Carolina.

When a neutron is shot into the thorium nucleus, it becomes temporarily a slightly heavier thorium isotope. It then shoots out two electrons, upsetting the electrical balance, and changes into a form of uranium which—like the much publicized U-235 and the synthetic element plutonium—becomes one of the atomic fuels. This is how it works:

Thorium is element 90 in the atomic table. It has 90 outer electrons or negatively charged elementary particles, balanced by 90 protons or positively charged particles, in its nucleus. In addition, the nucleus contains 142 neutrons, or approximately the same weight as the protons but without electrical charge. Thus its atomic weight is 232—or 232 times the weight of a proton.

Uranium is element 92 in the atomic table. The atomic weight of normal uranium is 236. That is, it has 92 outer electrons and 92 nuclear protons. In addition, there are 142 neutrons in its nucleus.

One extra neutron is shot into the nucleus of the thorium atom. Its weight becomes 233—but there still are only 92 outer electrons.

This state, however, is temporary. The isotope is unstable and shoots out two electrons. This changes two of the neutrons into protons. They, however, must immediately be balanced by two more outer electrons. Thus the atomic number becomes 92.

This new uranium is believed to be quite highly explosive. This is a general characteristic of all uranium isotopes with uneven numbers for atomic weights. It should be at least as explosive as uranium 235, because it is lighter, according to one authority.

Until now the new uranium has been kept in complete secrecy. The first public mention of it was in a report issued September 26 by the Scientific and Technical Committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission at Lake Success, N. Y. It is listed as one of the three possible atomic fuels.

"In general," the report says, "information indicates that processes involving thorium have been less thoroughly explored than those utilizing uranium. Nevertheless, in this report, U-233 is included as one of the nuclear fuels, even though the available information states only that it is theoretically possible to utilize 233 in reactors and in bombs."

Up to now thorium has been the Cinderella of the radio-active family of elements, always having been mentioned only as a possibility.

Yet when the first uranium nucleus fission in the United States was accomplished at the Terrestrial Magnetism Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington in January, 1939, the thorium atom was split at about the same time at Johns Hopkins University.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 12—(USDA)—Salable hogs 19,500, total 8,500; early market slow but trade now more active; generally 25-50 cents lower; sows around 75 cents off; good and choice 80-260 pounds $23.50-23.75, top $23.75; most 260-300 pounds $23.40-23.60.

Salable cattle 6,500, total 7,000; salable calves 800, total 800; fed steers and yearlings including yearling heifers steady to 25 cents lower; yearlings showed most decline; cows and bulls steady to weak; vealers steady; stock cattle continued fairly active and scarce, selling at $15.50 to $17.75 mostly; most steer and yearlings shortfeds selling at $20-29.00; good to choice yearlings $29.50.

Salable sheep 4,500, total 6,500; not established; higher asking prices retarding trade; best wooled lambs held for $24; buyers taking steady to lower.

SOUTH GEORGIA, FLORIDA AND ALABAMA

THOMASVILLE, Dec. 12 — (USDA) — Total livestock receipts at major plants in Albany, Columbus, Moultrie, Thomasville and Tifton, Ga.; Dothan, Ala., and Jacksonville and Tallahassee, Fla., amounted to 750 cattle, 150 calves and 2,000 hogs, mostly from within the area.

Prices on hogs were steady to 50 cents lower, with composite quotations on medium to choice and semihard hogs over 180 pounds at mostly $21. Occasional longhaults were 25-50 cents higher. Most 160-180-pounders brought $20.50-21.00; 140-160-pounders were $19-20.00; medium and good sows brought $18-20.00.

In the cattle trade, both slaughter and replacement cattle were active. Killers took top common and better-grade cattle and calves at strong to 50 cents higher prices, and lower grades were strong. Several head of good-grade fed steers and yearlings were included in early sales, at from $15.50-17.00. Most of the medium-grade steers and heifers brought $12.50-15.00, with common grades $9-$12.50. Bulk of canner and cutter cows sold at from $7-9.50. Common and medium-grade steers, heifers and calves in the replacement trade sold from $8.50-12.25.

Six-Day Week Asked for Police

Establishment of a six-day work week for the Atlanta Police force was recommended last night to Council's Finance Committee by the Police Committee. The cost, as estimated by Ed. A. Gilliam, member of the Police Committee and chairman of Council's Finance Committee, would be about $325,000 annually.

The action was taken following a formal presentation of a petition of the Police department. Chief Hornsby said a six-day week would absorb more than the 50 additional men already allotted to the department.

First steps in increasing the size of the department were taken last night when the committee elected to regular positions the 19 men who were on the supernumerary list, and ordered them to immediate duty.

The city's personnel committee, which has been giving examinations to applicants for the Police Department, is expected to soon certify 35 additional men, who will come before the committee at an early date, many of these are expected to be elected to regular places as the city increases the size of the force by 50 men as authorized by council recently.

Patrolman F. W. Sutherland was suspended for 30 days after facing the committee on a charge of being under the influence of an intixicant while on duty.

Fulton National To Pay Dividend To Stockholders

Stockholders of the Fulton National Bank will be paid the usual 25 cents per share quarterly dividend on the bank's $10 par value stock plus an extra 25 cents per share year-end dividend, Clarence J. Haverty, Chairman of the Board of Directors, has announced.

The dividend was declared by the Board of Directors for all stockholders as of record on Dec. 21. It will be paid on Jan. 2, 1947. Other quarterly dividends have been paid in April, July and October, Mr. Haverty revealed, making an overall payment of $1.25 per share for 1946.

"The 12½ percent yearly dividend for 1946 is a furtherance of a 33-year period during which dividends have constantly been earned and paid to Fulton National Bank stockholders," Haverty said. "Extra dividends have also been paid each year for the past 13 years," he continued.

The customary bonus for employes was voted by the Board of Directors at the same meeting. Employes of the Bank also will benefit from the Bank's profit-sharing plan.

U. S. Prosecutors Dig For Data on Nazis

NUERNBERG, Dec. 12 — (AP) — American prosecutors, undismayed by the International Military Tribunal's decision acquitting the German General Staff, now are preparing individual prosecutions against high-ranking militarists under Adolf Hitler, it was learned Thursday.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for U. S. War Crimes Trials, has a staff of analysts now searching War Department files in Washington for information about Nazi Germany's leaders.

When these files are transported to Nuernberg, a staff of attorneys will go to work preparing individual prosecutions, principally on the charge of waging aggressive war.

Gen. Clay Back At Post in Germany

BERLIN, Dec. 12 — (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Deputy American Military Governor, returned to his headquarters here after spending a month in the United States.

Clay told correspondents he believed "very encouraging progress" had been made at the foreign ministers' conference.

"We are very encouraged by developments leading toward the economic unification of Germany, for which we believe the groundwork has now been laid," he added.

Complaining Vets— Here's an Answer

To veterans who complain they have not been getting preference for civil service jobs, W. E. Wall, Veterans Administration Southeastern Canteen Chief, has an answer.

Wall has been searching for weeks for a veteran to fill the position of manager for the canteen to be opened at Lawson Veterans Hospital. Although the job pays $91 a week, Wall has found no veteran who is eligible and interested.
